

Nixon Plans More Basic Tax Changes

First Bill Designed to Fix 'Flaws'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration spokesmen told Congress today President Nixon's wide-ranging tax reform proposals are aimed at quickly repairing pressing flaws in the system and more basic changes are planned.

Of equal importance to immediate reform, Treasury Under Secretary Charles E. Walker told the House Ways and Means Committee, are "basic structural changes that go beyond reform" which, however, must be approached more slowly.

He noted in his prepared testimony that the President has ordered a cellar-to-attic review of every aspect of the tax system to point up the areas where simplification—a major goal—may be possible.

Walker and Edwin S. Cohen, assistant secretary of the Treasury for tax policy, repeatedly used terms such as "interim" and "first stage" to describe the lengthy list of changes Nixon outlined in the tax message he sent Monday to Capitol Hill.

Keep Confidence

"The most critical problems, which we believe should be dealt with promptly," Cohen said, "are first, maintaining confidence in the tax structure by curbing the excessive use of tax preferences by some wealthy taxpayers and, second, removing the burden of the income tax from those who are below the poverty level."

Overall, Treasury officials said, revenue losses and gains will cancel each other out at roughly $4 billion each, though there should be a net increase in receipts after the first two years.

The big revenue-boosting items, they said, will be the repeal of the 7 per cent investment tax credit, tightening up on use of "tax preferences" by high-income taxpayers to shield much of their income from taxation, and correction of a lengthy list of abuses.

Revenue Lost

On the other side will be the revenue lost by cutting the present 10 per cent income tax surcharge to 5 per cent next Jan. 1, elimination of income taxes for single persons and families earning less than $3,500 a year, revenue-sharing with states and local governments and tax incentives to bring more businesses and privately run manpower training programs into poverty areas.

Some of the changes are designed to take effect immediately, others by stages, the Treasury officials said. Action on revenue-sharing and the tax incentives programs would not begin for at least a year, they said.

Once the program ending federal taxation of those below the $3,500 line is fully operative, they said, the cost will be $665 million a year.

Another revenue-losing, liberalizing income tax deductions for moving expenses, would carry a price tag of $110 million this year and $100 million a year thereafter.

The limit on deductions for charitable contributions, currently 30 per cent of income for all but a few taxpayers, would be raised to 50 per cent at an

Life or Death for Sirhan

Final Arguments Are Given, Jury Back in Seclusion

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I they would have come in this beseech you," said the defense lawyer, "to spare Sirhan Sirhan's life—it would carry forth the brave spirit of Robert Kennedy's compassion."

"We have lavishly expended our resources for the sake of a cold-blooded political assassin," said the prosecutor, not once mentioning death "Sirhan was entitled to the fair trial which he has received. He has no special claim to further preservation."

Those pleas first, then Judge Herbert V. Walker's instructions to conscientiously consider "whether this man should suffer the death penalty or shall be permitted to remain alive," set the Sirhan jury to its final task Monday.

After 2½ hours in the same room where they convicted Sirhan of first degree murder last week, the jurors adjourned for the night without a verdict in the penalty phase of the 15-week old trial. They have only two choices: life or death.

Grant B. Cooper, who delivered the impassioned final plea for the 25-year-old Jordanian Arab, walked out of the courtroom shaking his head in dejection.

"I don't like it, I don't like it," he said. "The longer they stay out, the more I sweat. I think if they were going to give him life, he has never been said," her soft, accented voice quavered. "And that is not from me or from him, that is because I raised him on the law of God and His love."

Howard told the jury Sirhan "reached this shore at the indulgence of a nation which takes pride in providing refuge to the oppressed... a new society which offered greater opportunity for the individual to achieve success within the limits of his

President Changed Mind on Tax Credit

Administration Has Two Reasons To Repeal Investment Incentive

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's announcement Monday that he favors repeal of the investment tax credit marked a complete flipflop from the administration's policy of just a week ago.

One after another, top administration officials who met with AFL-CIO leaders in White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., last week recited to newsmen the reasons why the credit should not be repealed.

The labor chiefs disagreed so did Democratic leaders in Congress. They charged that the tax credit, created in 1962 as a stimulus to business investment, was stoking the furnace of inflation.

Until the past weekend, when it became clear that President Nixon's advisers were having a rush of second thoughts, the official replies were always the same.

—The credit, which lets a businessman chop from his tax bill 7 per cent of his outlays for new machinery and equipment, is a long-term inducement to investment and growth. In more years than not it will be needed as a job-creating stimulant.

—Its repeal would be equivalent to a $3 billion tax increase. On top of existing anti-inflation restraints, it would provide too much squeeze, might cause a recession.

—A repeal would disrupt industry's investment planning, it's not fair to change the tax rules in the middle of the game. And it would be an administrative nightmare for the Treasury.

All those arguments could be heard from the secretary of the treasury, the budget director, the chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers—even from economist Arthur F. Burns, counselor to the President when he talked to newsmen just one week ago.

So what changed things?

'Prepared to Negotiate Seriously'

U.S. Feels Hanoi Now Ready to Talk

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has committed itself to a double track program for gradually reducing the U.S. combat role in Vietnam even if the Paris peace talks fail.

Administration leaders are trying to tell North Vietnam and the Viet Cong, however, that if they want to get United States forces out of South Vietnam quickly and completely they will have to make a negotiated settlement.

The prevailing belief in official quarters here is that thousands of troops will be brought home this year.

The broad elements of the program were sketched out officially for the first time Monday by Secretary of State William P. Rogers in an address to the Associated Press in New York.

Rogers declared that the Nixon administration hopefully assumes "that the other side is now prepared to negotiate seriously for an end to the war."

"We have not, however, placed all our eggs in one basket," he said.

"We have to be prepared for the unwelcome contingency that the other side does not yet want to negotiate a peaceful settlement. We are not prepared to assume that the only alternative to early progress in the peace talks is an indefinite extension of our present role."

Larger Burden

"That is why such high priority is being given to preparing South Vietnamese forces to assume a growing share of the combat burden and why the government of South Vietnam is giving such high priority to developing the political unity of the country."

"These efforts are well under way. They will be carried out systematically and urgently."

At the same time Rogers

made two points which appeared to be directed to the Communist side in the conflict as well, perhaps, as to critics of U.S. war policy in this country.

He said the United States "is committed to achieving a peace in Vietnam which will permit the people of South Vietnam to determine their own future, free from outside interference by anyone."

"That is our objective... it is not subject to change."

He also said that progress toward peace "can be accelerated significantly if the other side is prepared to get down to practical negotiations on mutual force withdrawals in the near future."

Rogers declared the issue now in Paris is "whether peace comes more gradually or more rapidly to Vietnam."

His summary of the situation appeared to confirm reports here and in Paris that the administration has not yet set up the secret negotiations President Nixon has said are needed to negotiate an end to the war.

In indicating the alternative to a negotiated settlement, Rogers went beyond the position outlined in much broader terms by Nixon earlier.

'We've Got No Slack'

Task Force off N. Korea Hurting U.S. War Effort

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vietnam naval air operations are being curtailed and the 7th Fleet stretched to the limit with deployment of a 23-ship task force to protect U.S. reconnaissance missions off North Korea.

"We've got no slack," a Navy officer commented after the Pentagon Monday announced assignment of an armada to the Sea of Japan where a Navy plane was shot down by North Korea last week.

One aircraft carrier and possibly other warships of the 7th Fleet have been pulled from the war effort to form a new Task Force 71 deploying somewhere off North Korea.

Cut by Third

Officers said this means the Navy contribution to the U.S. bombing campaign in South Vietnam and Laos will be cut by roughly one-third. The United States has been keeping three aircraft carriers on the firing line in the Gulf of Tonkin; for the time being this will be reduced to two.

The 7th Fleet's remaining four aircraft carriers are going into Task Force 71 along with three cruisers and 16 destroyers.

Thus, officers pointed out, all 7th Fleet carriers are now tied down on two fronts—the Sea of Japan and the Gulf of Tonkin.

And officers described the 16 destroyers as a major share of the Seventh's heavy combat vessels.

How long the fleet can maintain both assignments under present conditions is a matter of concern to the Navy. With its six flattops occupied, the 7th Fleet has no replacement flexibility.

Officers said that if the task force has to remain in the Sea

Killed in Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army listed two Wisconsin servicemen Monday among soldiers killed in Vietnam.

They were Sgt. Anthony G. Markevitch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Markevitch Sr. of Onalaska, and Sgt. Larry A. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Smith of Fort Atkinson.

The Fourth Amendment guarantees citizens security "against unreasonable searches and seizures." The court found police are subject to its "constraints" when they obtain fingerprints for use as evidence.

Beyond that, the court, in an opinion by Justice William J. Brennan Jr., warned that the Fourth Amendment applies to police investigations.

He said police are not free to seize suspects without probable cause for arrest and subject them "to the harassment ignominy incident to involuntary detention."

Brennan added: "Nothing is more clear than the Fourth Amendment was meant to prevent wholesale intrusions upon the personal security of our citizenry, whether these intrusions be termed 'arrests' or 'investigatory detentions'."

Changes in Federal Law

Here's How Nixon's Tax Bill Affects You

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you are an average middle income earner the biggest benefit President Nixon's tax proposals offer you is a cut in the surtax next year.

For example, if the tax you owe on your 1969 income is $1,100, including the 10 per cent surtax, the bite on your 1970 income would be only $1,050, a saving of $50, because the rate would be cut to 5 per cent. If, as the President said he hopes, the surtax can be eliminated entirely ly in mid-1970, you would save another $25.

In special circumstances you might save more.

Say you are a heavy contributor to charities. Present law allows you to deduct your donations only up to 30 per cent of your income. The administration proposes to raise the limit to 50 per cent.

Or suppose you move from one city to another to take a better job. You may, depending on the circumstances, get a better break in deducting your moving expenses.

The tax package includes a liberalization of the rules, especially for new employees and for old employees not reimbursed by the employer for cost of the shift.

In general, the effect of the proposed changes would be felt most at the two ends of the income scale.

Those living in poverty or not much above the line would get a definite break. For example, a family of four would pay no tax on income up to $3,500 and reduced tax on any income up to $4,500.

Many upper income taxpayers would be hit by a limitation on the tax preferences generally used only by the affluent. Complete shielding of income from taxation would be ended in all but extremely rare cases, treasury officials say.

Non-Protesting Students Help Save Cities From High Water

By GALE TOLLIN
Associated Press Writer

Young people, boys and girls, came by the thousands from high schools and colleges to fight floodwaters. They came wearing work clothes and water boots. A few even came in wheel chairs and on crutches.

On the dikes in river communities in Minnesota and Dakota, the youngsters won the battles. They left with the heartfelt gratitude of the people they had aided, and with the praise of Civil Defense and city officials.

As the floodwaters receded in most parts of the three states Monday, the plaudits mounted.

"There are the great untelvised majority of our young people," said Ray Smith, mayor of St. Croix Beach, Minn., where students built dikes and helped evacuees flee their threatened homes. "Nobody has to worry about them."

Typical Story

"They can talk about the Dutch boy, we had dozens of them here stopping the leaks in our dikes," said Dr. Don Tostenrud, who headed the sandbagging effort at Springfield.

The story at Winona, Minn., was typical. A southeastern Minnesota city of 26,000, Winona has seven miles of dikes protecting it from the Mississippi River. When dike reinforcement and patrolling was needed, a call went out for help. About 850 students came from colleges, high schools and vocational schools. Sixty girls from St. Teresa College filled sandbags.

"Our flood-fighting effort has been successful largely because of the city's youth power," said City Manager Carroll J. Fry.

"This is an untapped resource and we called on it in this emergency. They came through in tremendous fashion. Without their help we would have lacked the force necessary for sandbagging and dike patrolling."

At Springfield, Minn., on the Cottonwood River, 50 persons were requested for dike duty and 60 showed up from Southwest State College at Marshall.

"One came in a wheelchair and filled 300 sandbags one night," recalled Ames. "Another, Douglas Bloemke, crippled by polio, came back from college to help his hometown in its hour of peril. That lad walked the dikes on his aluminum arm crutches from 9 a.m. until 7 a.m. right up with the rest of them."

One high school student in Springfield worked 36 hours without getting home to sleep.

When the Minnesota River crested April 12 at Mankato, the sewers backed up, backing it from the Mississippi River. When dike reinforcement and patrolling was needed, a Soviet Concessions? Moscow Happily Welcomes Husak

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia's new Communist Party chief, Gustav Husak, went to Moscow today, and his party's reform faction hoped he would return with some Soviet concessions.

Husak was welcomed at Moscow airport by Soviet party chief Leonid Brezhnev, Premier Alexei Kosygin, President Nikolai Podgorny and other top officials. This red carpet treatment indicated the Kremlin's pleasure that the pro-Moscow Husak had replaced Alexander Dubcek.

Husak formally took over the party controls Monday from the reform leader and left Prague a few hours later to attend a summit meeting of Comecon, the Soviet bloc economic organization.

The Prague reformists hope that Husak's energetic efforts to please the Kremlin will result in Soviet approval of a substantial credit in dollars or some other convertible currency to help Czechoslovakia ease its economic troubles.

They also hope Moscow can be persuaded to cease publication of Zpravy, the Czech-language propaganda sheet which the Soviet occupation troops distribute. It is particularly hated by Czechoslovak students and other militants.

Though they realize there is little chance the occupation force will be withdrawn this year, the reformists are hopeful the Kremlin can be persuaded to move its troops to more isolated areas for the summer. Some of the garrisons now stationed in small towns around the country are a constant source of friction.

Postal Pilfering Brings New U.S. Crackdown

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Post Office says an apparent jump in mail thefts has forced it to take new steps to prevent employees from stealing the goods they are supposed to deliver.

The department is screening new employees more closely and introducing new devices—including computers—to detect workers who steal or pilfer the mails, an official says.

Heading the crackdown on internal mail theft is former FBI investigator and security, says, and CIA man William J. Cotter, appointed chief postal inspector earlier this month.

Cotter said he is vitally concerned with "theft, rifling or other forms of mistreatment of mail" by postal workers.

Officials said no figures are available on the amount of goods and money lost annually through internal theft or rifling.

But evidence of the theft increases comes from a marked rise in the number of postal employees or contract workers arrested during the first nine months of the current fiscal year.

The 873 arrests from last July through March almost matches the 885 apprehensions during the entire previous fiscal year, a spokesman pointed out.

Officials emphasized, however, that total losses, by theft or otherwise, involved less than 1 per cent of the 82 billion pieces of mail processed by the postal system last year.

Cotter, a 48-year-old veteran of two decades in criminal investigation and security, says, "specialists are working on measures to pinpoint areas where thefts occur."

He would not describe the devices or techniques installed to discover where thefts occur.

But he said analysis is facilitated through sorting losses by type and place and converting the information monthly to an automatic data processing print-out.

The department also has gradually expanded its inspection service. The new budget proposes an additional 47 postal inspectors for the current 1,180-man force.

The majority of St. Croix Beach's young heroes were from the University of Wisconsin at River Falls. Concordia College in St. Paul and Lakewood Junior College in White Bear Lake, Minn.

"They worked hard for people to whom they owe nothing," said the mayor. "We were strangers to them but they wanted to help us save our homes from being flooded. These kids represent the average, the biggest group."

St. Croix Beach children worked "as if they were adults," Smith said. Elementary and high school students worked every day for over a week, moving and cutting trees and hauling them away so the dikes could be built. They filled sandbags too, working on shifts from 4 a.m. until 8 a.m. before going to school.

Stillwater, Minn., also on the St. Croix was threatened Sunday when strong winds and high waves began to undermine dikes. Twenty Stillwater businessmen and 20 volunteers from Stillwater State Prison filled sandbags. Boys and girls unloaded the big trucks onto smaller rigs which carried the sandbags to the dikes. Then youngsters formed a human chain, passing bags to where they were placed on the dikes.

At Princeton University, scattered fistfights broke out when about 100 members of SDS blockaded two Marine Corps recruiters into a campus building. The officers were permitted to leave Clio Hall for lunch, but were prevented from returning.

Cornell University in Ithaca, N.Y., remained in a "state of emergency" today, as tension of a demonstration by armed black militant students pervaded the campus.

About 1,100 faculty members decided Monday night that the weekend seizure of a campus building by armed members of the Afro-American Society made discussion of discipline problems from earlier demonstrations impossible.

Cornell President James A. Perkins banned firearms from campus and said disruptive demonstrations would no longer be tolerated.

The faculty refused to accept a pact between the blacks and Perkins that ended the sit-in by dismissing charges against five black students stemming from December disorders. Dean of Faculty Robert D. Miller, an author of the pact, submitted his resignation to Perkins after the vote.

About 70 high school students staged an hour-long sit-in at Columbia University, demanding that the college open its doors unconditionally to graduates of four predominantly Negro high schools in New York City. Columbia officials promised to meet with the students to discuss the issue, which has been backed by SDS.

Columbia, Cornell, Harvard, Princeton and Yale are members of the Ivy League, an informal group of some of the East's top universities.

Two campuses had a brighter outlook: students at Southern University in New Orleans, La., and at Mount St. Mary's College in Emmitsburg, Md., voted to end class boycotts and return to class.

Militant blacks at Southern University went back to classes after Gov. John McKeithen visited the campus, said he thought their demands were justified, and promised to ask the district attorney to drop criminal charges against 21 students.

Mount St. Mary's Board of Review voted to accept student demands for changing curfew and dress requirements.

Four other New York City colleges—City College, Queens, Brooklyn and Queensborough Community, all part of the City University—were hit by demonstrations demanding open enrollment for all high school students and establishment of black studies programs in a separate school.

Protesting Students Push Strife in Ivy League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sit-ins, strikes and other protests have spread to more than a dozen campuses around the nation, including five Ivy League universities. The protests usually focus on racial or military issues.

About 2,000 students at Yale University voted Monday night to bar the Reserve Officers Training Corps program from their New Haven, Conn., campus.

The resolution is not binding on the university, whose faculty and trustees recently voted to withdraw academic credit from the ROTC. Yale has 8,300 undergraduate and graduate students.

At Harvard University, members of Students for a Democratic Society and their supporters moved into the administration building for the second time in two weeks. The five-hour sit-in by 100 students ended quietly when the protesters left as the working day ended.

SDS' announced purpose was to stop work in the building, and Harvard officials sent secretaries home and stood about debating the militants. SDS called the "mill-in" after students voted Friday to end a week-long strike, aimed at the administration's use of police to end an April 9 sit-in.

The protesters want ROTC banned from campus. The Faculty of Liberal Arts and Sciences has voted to make the program an extracurricular activity.

Meanwhile, Harvard's faculty of the Graduate School of Business Administration endorsed President Nathan M. Pusey for his handling of the first sit-in.

At Princeton University, scattered fistfights broke out when about 100 members of SDS blockaded two Marine Corps recruiters into a campus building. The officers were permitted to leave Clio Hall for lunch, but were prevented from returning.

Little Savings Can Grow Into Substantial Amount

BY MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

"My husband has just gotten a nice raise, so now we feel we can relax a little," says the inevitable letter in the day's mail. "We plan to use this $800 raise to . . ."

To put into a second car, to help cover the mortgage payments on a new home, to start a monthly investment plan, or do something else long postponed.

Then somebody like me spoils the fun by asking: "What $800?"

True, on paper the husband has gone up the pay scale from $11,000, say, to $11,800. But what the family needs to figure is, how much of his raise will be money, and how much of it will be that other stuff — taxes and inflation. At first glance, $800 a year can look like an extra $66 a month. But then the wage earner does his arithmetic and comes up with something like this:

Income tax will be increased $76.

Increase in Social Security tax will take an additional $31.60.

City and state taxes will be up $20.40

Total cost of getting that lucky break of $800 salary increase, $570.

What's Really Necessary?

So now he sees he'd better figure on about $19 extra income per month, instead of $66. Which should remind us all: "Never spend a raise till you get it." Statistics indicate that the average wage earner will get an increase in pay this year ranging in amount from 5 to 6 per cent of his salary. By this measurement, it's indeed an affluent society we've got. But the family who's looking for the kind of affluence they can feel, not just spell, won't find it in a pay raise alone.

Actually, more financial stability may well be found in a change of attitude toward what's necessary and what's luxury. There're so many good things in the world, the priorities have gotten shifted in the confusion. Those tired old basics — three meals a day, a roof overhead and a good credit rating — can't compete for status with a car with hidden headlights, color TV and an electric hair brush.

Undramatic Savings

But there's still a lot to be said for a balanced budget and a good night's sleep. Some families are moving them up on the priority list. They're building on small, undramatic savings, in such prosaic little ways as these:

Cutting car operation by $5-$7 a month, by organizing the family's trips and errands;

Trying to keep clothing costs to a minimum 8 per cent of income, instead of the accustomed 10 per cent, and making good use of seasonal sales;

Keeping a close watch on impulse purchase of drugstore items other than drugs, which can reduce costs as much as $10 in some months;

Converting installment pay-

60 in Bidding for The Law and You

Nixon Apartment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Richard M. Nixon says about 60 bids have been received for the family's Fifth Avenue apartment in New York.

The flat, a 12-room cooperative, went on the market soon after the Nixons moved to the White House.

Nixon recently valued it at $166,000, but real estate men say it probably will bring a high bid of $200,000 or more.

Inmates Help Prove Vitamin C Necessary

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) —

Nine Iowa penitentiary inmates, without promise of preferential treatment, have made a major contribution to world health, a University of Iowa physician announced.

Dr. Robert E. Hodges said the prisoners contracted scurvy after volunteering to undergo a diet void of vitamin C.

They returned to health when the vitamin C was returned, Hodges said, after making possible findings which will be reported to the World Health Organization.

Property Owners Have Duty To Warn of Hidden Hazards

It is the duty of a property owner to warn persons on his land of hidden but known dangers.

For example, if Tom invited some friends to his country property for an outing, and one of them stepped into a bear trap Tom knew to be set there, Tom would be liable for injuries the person suffered, since the trap would fall into the category of the hidden danger that was known to the property owner.

There are other hazards which may be classified as observable. In these instances the landowner generally is relieved of liability if someone is injured.

Take the recent case of a man who dove into murky lake water, only three feet deep, off the end of a 70-foot pier.

Claiming he should have been warned of the shallow depth, the diver contended that the danger was concealed because the murky water prevented a visual gauging of the depth.

The trial court ruled in favor of the landowner in that case, and the decision was upheld by the Wisconsin Supreme Court.

The court said that "the failure to see the bottom of a lake or other body of water constitutes an observable danger. For a non-swimmer, it should serve as a clear warning that he may be venturing into water beyond his depth. For a diver, it is a signal that the water may be too shallow for safe diving."

In Wisconsin the duty owed by the owner or possessor of land to an invitee is a limited one. That duty, except as to active negligence, is to warn of concealed but known hazards. But if there is no concealed hazard, then no duty is imposed upon the owner.

Quick End to War Is Predicted if Red Bloc Halts N. Vietnam Aid

HONOLULU (AP) — Lt. Gen. Robert E. Cushman Jr., deputy director of the Central Intelligence Agency, says "the war in Vietnam would be over in a couple of months" if the Communist bloc stopped supplying North Vietnam with equipment.

Cushman, who commanded Marine forces in Vietnam for two years prior to his CIA assignment, said: "Amphibious tanks which we found in the Khe Sanh area were Russian. We've captured equipment from both Russia and China. In fact, some of it has come from other eastern European sources."

About 50 couples gathered Saturday evening at North Shore Golf Club for the fourth American Field Service Charity Ball sponsored by residents of Brillion.

Proceeds from the ball will be used to assist AFS students here and to send local high school students to a foreign country — an opportunity which continues to provide the students with unique learning experiences.

Floral centerpieces arranged by Mrs. Larry Pagel graced the tables and colorful tablecloths and candlelight added to the setting.

General chairmen were Mr. and Mrs. Norbert O'Connor.

Americans Grow Heavier, Taller Than Their Parents

Is America really growing a race of giants or does it only look that way? Well, maybe not giants, but there is no doubt that today's youth are growing taller and heavier than their parents.

Recent statistics show that the average 21 year old is about 3 inches taller and 5 pounds heavier than the average 21 year old in 1900. The Army reports that World War II inductees were .67 inches taller and 10.7 pounds heavier than WW I inductees. A 1957-58 report shows that new inductees were .50 inches taller and 7 pounds heavier than the WW II men. This gives us a total increase of 1.2 inches and 18 pounds in 40 years.

And that "seat of learning" Harvard, tells us that modern Harvard "boys" are 1.3 inches taller and 10 pounds heavier than their fathers (also Harvard) were at the same age.

Nor do men have the monopoly on growth. Fifty years ago less than 4 per cent of American women were 5'7" tall. Now 20 per cent are that height or over.

Furthermore the growth spurt isn't about to stop. Experts report that in the 21st century (a short 31 years from now) women will average 5 feet 8 inches, and men will average 6 feet 6 inches. The American Seating Co., a large producer of public seating, reports that its product has increased in width 4 to 5 inches in the last 25 years.

To keep up with the bigger American the clothing and shoe manufacturer now offers an increasing variety of tall sizes — which are rapidly becoming "average". And bedding manufacturers offer new King and Queen size beds which are both longer and wider to accommodate longer and wider Americans. There are, however, an amazingly large number of people spending one-third of their lives in tiny beds that were designed when the average man was less than five-seven.

Beds that are too small undoubtedly cause a great deal of the insomnia one hears about today. In addition to being too short the old, small size double bed offers each of its two sleepers only 27 inches in width which is just what a baby gets in a crib. To be comfortable and get a good night's sleep each person should have at least 38 inches in width (just like a twin bed) to allow for the 40-60 turns the average person makes each night. The bed should be 10 inches longer than the tallest occupant to avoid toes cramped by bed coverings and to provide room for the portion of the pillow that isn't under the head.

Republican Women Return From Capital City

BY EDITH BOCK
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Patience, loyalty and support turned out to be what Administration leaders, from President Nixon to national committee staffers, asked of Republican women attending the annual conference at Washington, D. C., last week. There were signs that some supporters already are restive at what they view as a lack of action, and more signs that Republican women, attending their first conference after first campaign participation, had a lot to learn about the ways of Congress and the development of programs in a two-party, democratic government.

A show of hands at one session of the conference indicated that more than half the women attending were at their first Republican Women's Conference.

Welfare, war, crime in the streets — these cannot be resolved over night. Cabinet members and congressmen counseled in talks to the conference. About 30 of Wisconsin's 98 member delegation returned to the state late Saturday after concluding the conference week with a junket to New York City.

Women Ask Questions
While they rode the New Train from the nation's capital to New York and during the ensuing two days of theater, sightseeing, shopping and travel, the women talked of the conference.

"I just asked questions about some things I thought ought to be done and asked why they weren't," one young delegate said after hearing a comment that many of the women appeared critical of GOP progress to date.

She had saved her questions, she said, for the Congressional breakfast which Wisconsin women attended. "I thought that was the place to ask them. I wanted to let the legislators know what I wanted done," she said.

It was Sen. Everett Dirksen (Illinois) who best explained the progress of the new Nixon administration to the conference.

He spoke at the Wednesday's concluding banquet, after the appearance of the President, an appearance that apparently charged even the most critical with a frenzy of enthusiasm.

"This Administration will take no action for which it will not willingly be responsible," the senator declared. He said he would like to think of it as the "Responsible Society" replacing the New Deal, Fair Deal, New Frontier and Great Society years.

"The new Administration," he said, "has been moving with a combination of determination and care, recognizing that after a period of sometimes too hasty experimentation, the time has come when the things the government does have got to be right."

Detail Accomplishments
Major accomplishments of the young new Administration already include, the senator detailed, creation of the office of intergovernmental relations for coordination of federal, state, and local activities; the program for minority business enterprise as a start toward giving greater business opportunities to members of minor-

Marriage Promises Exchanged

NEENAH — Married in a 7 p.m. ceremony Saturday, April 12 at Gloria Dei Lutheran Church were Miss Ruth L. Fleischer and Thomas D. Purto. Officiating at the rite was the Rev. Erling N. Carlsen.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Fleischer Jr., 910 Tavor St., Menasha. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Purto, 114 Hazel St.

Mrs. Michael Zimmerman attended as maid of honor. Miss Wendy McGoe, Mrs. Joseph Viotto Jr. and Miss Susan Fleischer were bridesmaids. Miss Cathryn Fleischer acted as flower girl.

Performing the duties of best man was Clifford Purto Jr. Joseph Viotto Jr., Larry Althaus and Richard Fleischer were groomsmen. Gerald Rausch Jr. acted as ring bearer.

The couple greeted guests at Germania Hall, Menasha. The new Mrs. Purto is employed by Geo. Banta Co., Inc., Menasha. Her husband attends the Fox Valley Campus of the University of Wisconsin.

After a wedding trip to Chicago, the couple will reside at Neenah.

ity groups, and reorganization of the Department of Labor's manpower administration.

Results, Sen. Dirksen advised, should be viewed in relation to the "patrimony" left by the Democrat-dominated years preceding the Nixon administration.

Part of that "patrimony," he said, are the longest war in the nation's history, a dangerous state of party with other nations in military power, the disarray of the nation's international alliances and vanishing free world confidence in U.S. leadership.

It includes, as well, he continued, the worst crime wave in the history of the republic, the worst domestic violence in 100 years, 2.5 million Americans added to relief rolls, disappearing American farms and increasing department of agriculture employees, strikes, dwindling gold supplies, and a rising cost of living.

Tone Down Rhetoric

"One of the first essentials of today," Senator Dirksen told the women, "is to restore the faith of the American people in the decision making processes. By establishing a sense of order, by arranging the mechanisms of decision, by toning down the rhetoric to promise no more than can be delivered and to deliver whatever is promised, the new President has gone a long way in restoring that faith."

DEAR LOIS: Did you know that there are over 60 knitting machine manufacturers? It was a startling piece of information I happened to acquire recently. I just wondered if you knew this. I enjoy your column and I'm thankful someone is finally catering to those of us who love machine knitting, too. I own three different machines now. Soon my children will be using my original small one. "Fellow Knit Wit," Mrs. H.

Dear Mrs. H.: Yes, there are 63 knitting machine manufacturers to be exact. You are indeed a "Fellow Knit Wit." I recently gave my first machine to a widowed friend to knit small items that she can sell and add to her income, if she cares to. It is a simple model, limited in size, but still works fine, though many years old.

Harden Your Heart To Triumph

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

If you're a kind-hearted fellow, everybody will love you, but you won't win many bridge tournaments. To be a constant winner you must be willing to outpace your opponents.

West opened the king of hearts, and East played the encouraging eight. West took the ace of hearts and then obediently led a hard heart.

After taking the queen of hearts, a kind-hearted East could cash the ace of clubs and put South out of his misery. But when the hand was played in a tournament some years ago, my friend Charlie Solomon, veteran Philadelphia expert, returned a trump instead of cashing the ace of clubs.

Solomon knew his club trick wasn't going to run away. South couldn't have a singleton club and a void in diamonds because then he would need 12 cards in spades and hearts combined. South had at most seven trumps because East could see three in his own hand and three in the dummy; and South couldn't have started with more than four hearts.

South won the trump return with the queen and saw hope for a contract if West had three or four diamonds headed by the king. So South optimistically led a singleton diamond and tried finesse with dummy's queen. Solomon took the king of diamonds and cashed the ace of clubs to collect 200 points instead of the 100 he would have earned if he had taken the ace of clubs earlier.

An extra hundred points doesn't mean much at rubber bridge, but a man is willing to harden his heart when it may

Your Problems

Woman Can't Accept Changes in World

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have the feeling that I've fallen asleep and awakened in a strange new world. I'm not an old woman, Ann. I'm 42. Yet I am totally unable to accept the weird changes in our society that are going almost unnoticed.

Here is a quote from a UPI story: "More than two dozen students, one a coed, streaked through College Park campus wearing only sneakers. The campus daily reported that the woman was about five-foot-six inches tall, brown haired and flat chested. One of the males in the pack said he was re-you have 9 points in high cards, the combined count must be 25 to 27 points. This should be enough for game, in view of your fine distribution, but is most unlikely to produce a slam. studies any more," was the explanation. One bashful runner was wearing a ski mask. He said, 'I'd hate for my parents to find out about this. They wouldn't understand.'

"Four of the sprinters who were freshmen said it was an impersonal way to be nude — that after a while nobody even looked at anybody else. The coed giggled and added, 'Nakedness can be fun.'"

Dear Mary: Nakedness can also be against the law. It is called "indecent exposure."

Of course these kids are cuckoo. And the statement, "Nobody studies any more," is evidence. Happily this nutty element represents a small segment of the student body. The segment that flunks out.

If you have trouble getting along with your parents ... if you can't get them to let you live your own life, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged by Parents? How to Get More Freedom." Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Boys Ordered To Pay for Burglaries

Teen-Age Brothers Admit 14 Charges of Break-ins at Airport

One year's supervision was ordered Monday for each of two rural Appleton brothers who admitted a total of 14 counts of burglary and vandalism at the Outagamie County Airport last January and February.

Judge Raymond P. Dohr, of the Juvenile Court, found both boys, ages 15 and 17, delinquent. He ordered them to make restitution for stolen merchandise and damaged equipment, in the amount of $595. The 17-year-old boy's share of the restitution is $479 and his younger brother's is $116. They are to make the payment within 30 days.

Out of Trouble

A caseworker for the Outagamie County Department of Social Services, who will supervise the boys, told the court he felt the boys will "keep out of trouble in the future."

The younger boy admitted four counts of burglary, including one at Maxair, Inc., two at Air Wisconsin, and one at the airport T-hangar.

The older boy admitted three burglaries at Air Wisconsin.

Rezoning Delayed Developer Claims He Is Treated Unfairly

An Appleton businessman with extensive land holdings on the far northside claimed again Monday that he is receiving unfair treatment at the hands of Appleton city officials.

Percy Menning made the allegation when appearing before the city plan commission to support his petitions to have two tracts of land in the Einstein Junior High area rezoned to permit apartment construction.

However, City Planner Jack Hetu—like his predecessor—took exception to the layout proposed by Menning and presented a suggested subdivision plan for Menning's consideration.

Save Money

"The purpose of the plan is to save you and the taxpayer money," Hetu told Menning.

Hetu said on the basis of good planning, plus the traffic patterns, Menning's proposed street and apartment layout was not justifiable.

Menning appeared upset by the subdivision plan and claimed he had been getting the run-around from the city for seven to eight years.

He charged "a new curve" was being thrown at him.

Hetu took issue with Menning's statement and said he had spent considerable time attempting to work out a satisfactory layout for the Menning property.

Action Delayed

Members of the plan commission said because Hetu's suggestion was new to them, they would hold off action on Menning's rezoning request until the next meeting.

The commission took similar action on a petition from Menning's brother, Leonard, who also had some land he wanted rezoned for apartment construction purposes.

It was indicated, however, that Leonard Menning's request would meet with approval—providing his brother went along with the proposed subdivision design.

Hetu said the plan he prepared for Percy Menning's consideration took into consideration the location of Einstein School and the possibility the city would purchase more property (owned by Menning) for a grade school next to it.

Menning claimed he has attempted to cooperate with city officials but to no avail.

Changes Are Requested for County Board

Vice Chairman Babbitt Wants To Eliminate Confusion on Floor

BY ARLEN BOARDMAN Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A move to eliminate the reign of confusion that again was displayed on the Outagamie County Board floor last week was urged this morning by County Board Vice Chairman Marvin Babbitt, Seymour.

The point came up during the first joint meeting of the executive committee and the new finance committee when Babbitt noted that as long as this committee's job is to revise county board rules, it should take on the task.

"It's really laughable sometimes," Babbitt said. He pointed out that several motions and amendments were on the floor at the same time last week, leaving the clerk and board members confused.

Teachers Won't Accept Offer From Kimberly

12.64 Per Cent Pay Increase Proposed In Rejected Plan

KIMBERLY — The Kimberly Education Association has rejected the board of education's final contract offer by a vote of 91 to 11. Dale Legois, president of the KEA, told Ray Hamann, superintendent of schools.

The teacher vote was taken April 17 following the second of two six-hour mediation sessions in the presence of Edward Krinske, mediator from the Wisconsin Employment Relations Commission. The board made its final offer April 15, the last day for teachers to return signed contracts.

The total cost of the package offered by the board is an increase of $125,372 for the 123 teachers on the 1968-69 staff. This figure represents an average raise of 12.64 per cent, or $1,019.20 per teacher. The contract is for the 1969-70 school year. The package would raise the average teacher salaries to $8,907 per year, excluding fringe benefits.

Tax Increase

Based on last year's figures, pay increases such as those proposed to the teachers would cost Kimberly taxpayers an added $3 per $1,000 assessed valuation on the tax rate. Since teacher salaries alone account for 63 per cent of the operating cost of schools in the district, other rising costs and the increase in costs for village operation could mean a substantial tax rate increase for residents in 1970.

The final offer by the board would provide a salary schedule with a $6,700 starting salary for a beginning teacher with a bachelors degree with 14 annual raises of 4 per cent and a top salary of $10,452. Former base was $6,100 with 15 annual increases.

The board offered an additional lane in the salary schedule with a base of $6,950 for those teachers with 15 graduate credits in their field of teaching beyond a bachelors degree, providing for 15 annual raises of 4 per cent with a top of $11,120.

The salary schedule would have a base of $7,200 for personnel with a masters degree in their field of teaching with 17 annual raises of 4 per cent to make a top salary of $12,096. The base presently is $6,600 for a teacher with a masters degree.

Extra-curricular Pay

A flat 10 per cent pay increase was offered for extra-curricular assignments such as athletic coaches, club sponsors, debate and forensic coaches, newspaper and yearbook advisors and drama coaches. An increase of 30 cents per hour, from $4 to $4.30, for behind-the-scenes work.

Turn to Page 5, Col. 7

Write Motions

Babbitt urged that every motion and especially amendments to motions should be written out and handed to the clerk before any discussion precedes.

Suprv. Herbert Helbe, Appleton, agreed and warned that the county board has a bad image and is not selling itself. "We've all been negligent," he said, and unless things change, the people will not support this type of operation.

Helbe said board members often forget courtesy and politeness during on-the-floor discussions. He noted that motions are "seconded" in the confusion, and often the clerk has lost who made the "second."

Supv. Harold Miller, Town of Grand Chute, agreed the motion.

Kim Koehn Is Appointed to Air Academy

KIMBERLY — Kim Koehn, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Koehn, 333 S. Joseph St., has received an appointment from 8th Dist. Rep. John Byrnes, R-

Kim Koehn

Green Bay, to the U.S. Air Force Academy in Colorado.

Koehn also received a nomination to the U.S. Military Academy, but selected the Air Force Academy.

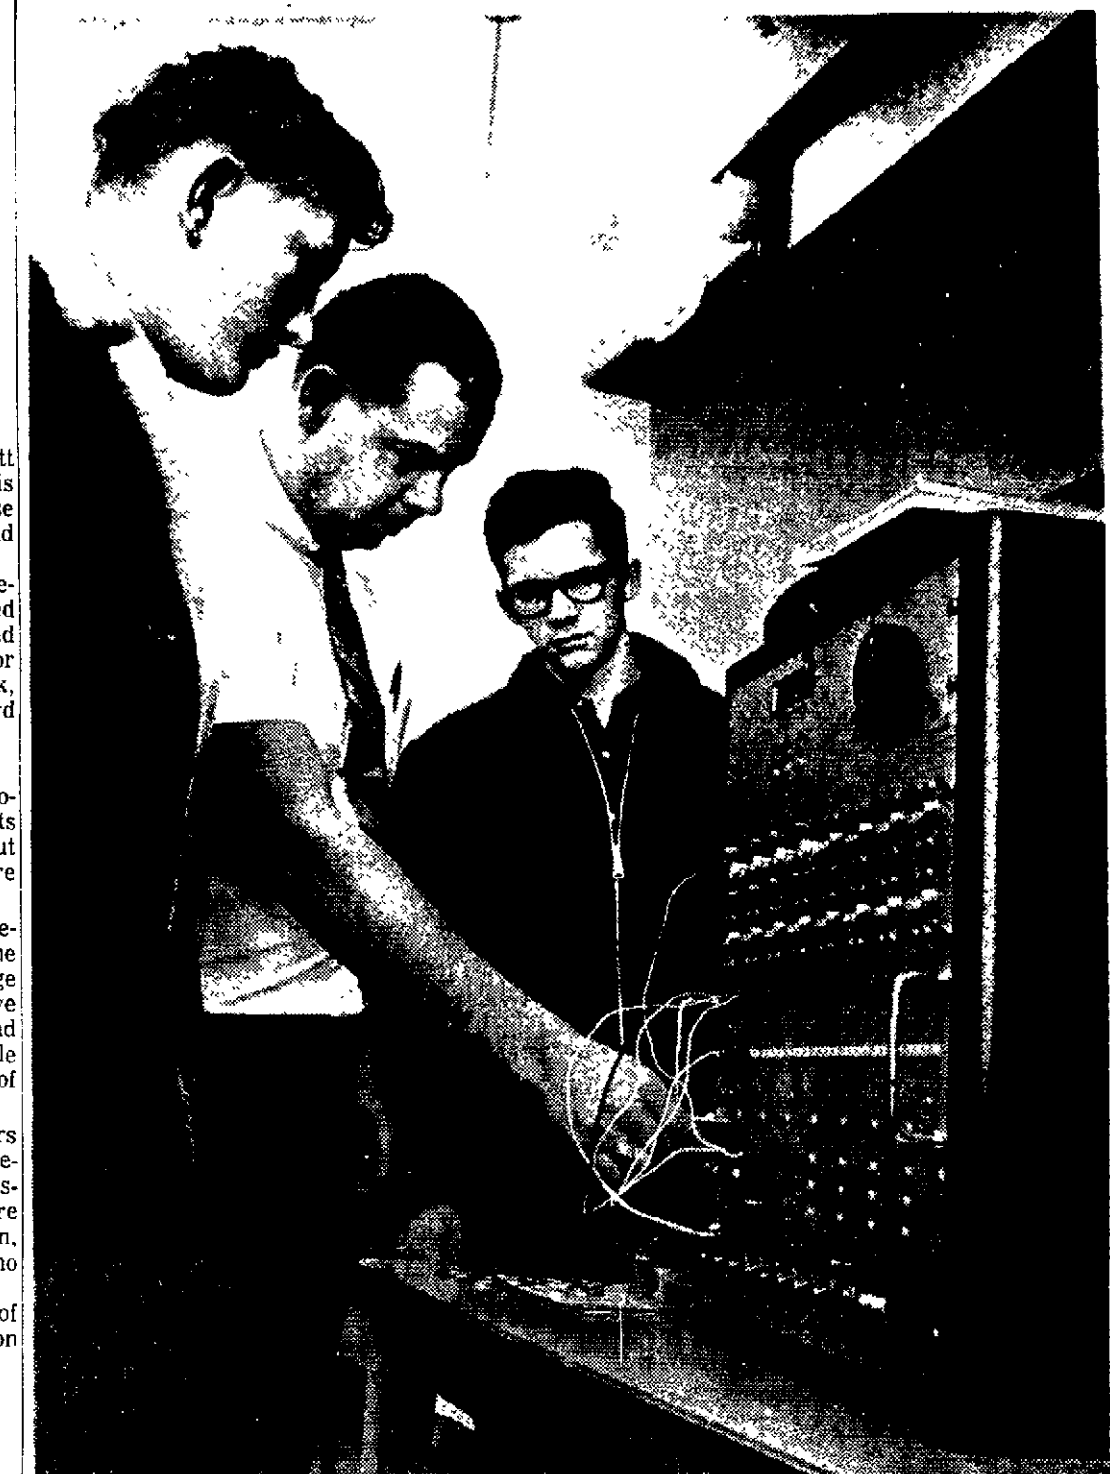

Koehn is valedictorian of this year's class at Kimberly High School, a member of National Honor Society, letterman in football and track, in which he holds the school record in the 880-yard run and is third place state finisher in that event.

Also active in music, the youth is first clarinetist in the school band, plays tenor sax in the stage band and is a member of the Kimberly Community Band. He was nominated for Outstanding Teen-ager in America and was selected for Badger Boys State in 1968, where he played in the Boys State Band.

Stolen Car Reported

William G. Frey, 129 N. Green Bay Road, reported to Appleton police this morning that his green 1968 Plymouth station wagon was taken from his driveway between 10 p.m. Monday and 5:30 a.m. today. Police said the car bears Wisconsin license L5082

Rezoning Plea Turned Down By Commission

Residents Enter Strong Protest to Service Station Plan

A request for rezoning to allow construction of a new service station in the 13th Ward was struck down Monday by the Appleton Plan Commission.

The McClone Real Estate Corp. had petitioned to have property at the corner of Telulah Avenue and Calumet Street changed from local family zoning to commercial.

Attorney Abraham Sigman, representing the petitioner, said the Cities Service Oil Co. had plans to construct an elaborate and well-landscaped facility.

However, City Planner Jack Hetu recommended against the rezoning and several residents in the area filed a protest against the McClone Corp. request, charging the developer with "acting in bad faith."

Strongly Opposed

Ald. Glenn Thompson (13th) was strongly opposed to rezoning, which he said, would allow a filling station in an all residential neighborhood.

The commission, after hearing arguments, was unanimous in recommending the city council deny the rezoning.

Thompson said it was the third time residents of the area had to appear before the commission to object to rezoning requests.

Sigman and his client, Ray McClone, told the commission a local station was a necessity.

Brooks Convicted of Having Marijuana

Appleton Youth Innocent on Second Count; Sentencing May 6

Sentencing has been set for May 6 for David A. Brooks, 19, who Monday night was found guilty of one narcotics charge and innocent of another.

An Outagamie County Court jury of seven men and five women deliberated about 3½ hours before returning the verdicts about 8:30 p.m. Brooks was ordered held in jail without bond until sentencing.

The jury found Brooks, of 318½ W. Atlantic St., guilty of possessing marijuana in a Kaukauna park on Feb. 28, and innocent of possessing and selling marijuana in Appleton on Oct. 30.

Appleton detectives brought the Feb. 28 charge against Brooks after an informant notified the district attorney's office that the youth had hidden a paper sack of marijuana under a rock in Bayshore Recreation Area in Kaukauna.

A detective testified that the informant showed him the hidden marijuana on Feb. 9.

Brooks was the only defense witness called by his court-appointed attorney and his testimony concerned only the Feb. 28 charge.

Brooks told the court he and an Appleton youth who later turned him in to authorities drove to Menasha the night of

WERC Attempts to Mediate Long Strike

Another attempt was made today to mediate the 39-week-old strike of Teamsters Local 563 against the Valley Contractors Material Suppliers Association.

Donald Lee, Madison, of the Wisconsin Employment Relations Commission (WERC), met with union and management negotiators at the Conway Motor Inn, starting at 10 a.m.

Members of Operating Engineers Local 139, also on strike against the seven-member association of ready mix and sand-gravel firms in the Fox Cities, did not participate in today's talks.

The old contract between the association and union expired last summer. However, when talks failed to produce agreement on a new three-year contract, the unions went out on strike July 29.

Wages Key Issue

Wages reportedly hold the key to any settlement, plus the touchy subject of retroactivity. Today's mediation session between the Teamsters and association is the first since December when talks broke off completely.

The struck firms have been operating but the unions have maintained their picketing activities.

There also have been extensive National Labor Relations Board proceedings arising out of charges and counter charges by the disputants.

Tarr Proposals Lack Solution Sanitary Problems Grow in Towns

BY DON CASTONIA Post-Crescent Staff Writer

As the urban sprawl continues to envelop more land around Wisconsin cities, the pressures of increasing population density are forcing more municipal services in areas which were recently farmland.

As subdivisions fill with homes, septic tanks lose their efficiency and wells become inadequate.

The step generally taken to solve the problem of sewage treatment and drinking water supply is the formation of either a sanitary or a utility district.

Border Oshkosh

Two such districts now operate in the Fox Cities area — Town of Grand Chute and the Town of Menasha — and a third is being studied in the High Cliff State Park area.

In addition, sanitary districts are being studied by the towns of Algoma, Oshkosh and Black Wolf, all of which border the City of Oshkosh.

In each case, the district has definitely defined boundaries and is administered by a board or a commission. Bonds can be issued to build facilities and taxes levied upon the service users to pay off the bonds.

The Tarr Task Force on local government has recommended that county government be given the responsibility of administering and controlling these special districts.

In its report, the Task Force said, "The absence of control over town sanitary districts should not continue. . . enabling the county to decide when a town sanitary district should be absorbed into a county sanitary district."

The Task Force also recommends that "whenever the capability is sufficient to do so, counties should also take over the operations and responsibilities of metropolitan sewage districts."

While the aim of the Task Force recommendation is to eliminate the proliferation of sanitary districts around a metropolitan area which could cause as many problems as they may solve, many experts in the field believe this is one area where the county may not be the best administrative tool.

Redevelopment Plan Approved in Menasha

MENASHA — A planning commission meeting Wednesday afternoon is expected to be the next public area for the downtown redevelopment plan, following Monday night's preliminary approval by the redevelopment authority (MRA).

Besides the 4:30 p.m. session of the planning body, the common council's finance committee was scheduled to meet tonight, with selection of a meeting date with the MRA among items of business.

It is agreed that the finance committee will have an opportunity to investigate the financial aspects of the project before final action is taken by the common council.

The MRA adopted a single-page resolution approving, by reference, the 72 page, 22-exhibit plan prepared by the developers, Public Facilities Associates, Inc., Madison, headed by Vince Lombardi and David and James Carley. Approval by the common council is required before the firm and the MRA can enter into a contract to carry out the project.

Council action is expected to take at least another month. Monday's MRA action took less than four minutes, but came only after a half-hour verbal exchange between redevelopment officials and citizens in the common council chamber's spectator gallery.

The main point of discussion was the same one that has troubled redevelopment officials and downtown property owners alike in virtually every public discussion between them.

The supporters of the plan, on the one hand, describe it, as they did again Monday, as "flexible" and subject to revision and refinement after it has been adopted and the developer has been hired.

Past Grand Knights and honorary life members of the Knights of Columbus, Council 607, were honored at a special dinner Thursday. Comparing notes on past activities are, from left, Grand Knight John Dietz; Lee Everts, Appleton, past grand knight and

Needs 400 'Knowledgeable People'

Kellett Seeks Help in Education Probe

BY DINAH WALTER

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

NEENAH — William Kellett, retired Neenah businessman and head of the governor's task force on education, urged local business leaders and educators to get involved in the work of the task force.

Speaking at the fourth of five such informational meetings held throughout the state on the task force, Kellett told some 60 persons Monday at the Kimberly-Clark Marketing Center that the task force committee is looking for constructive criticism, good or bad.

He said the regional meetings have been worthwhile since community leaders have voiced suggestions the task force committee should incorporate in its penetrating study of education in Wisconsin.

"We're listening, we're wide open," Kellett said.

Kellett, retired president of the Kimberly-Clark Corporation, said his committee will attempt to set up eight or nine committees to study different phases and areas of education.

Each of these committees should have five or six subcommittees, which totaled, could involve at least 400 "knowledgeable people."

Gov. Warren Knowles, appearing at the meeting, said he hoped at least 1,000 persons in the state would get involved.

"Wisconsin stands at real crossroads" as far as education is concerned and the state will either have to "move forward or backward," the governor said. It is essential, he continued, that the citizens, themselves, take a good look at education. Gov. Knowles made a plea that the task force study get off the ground as soon as possible so the state can have some answers to the complex problems which education now faces.

He also urged citizens to Youth Gets Probation on Drug Charges

OSHKOSH — An 18-year-old Green Lake youth, convicted of possession and sales of marijuana, was placed on probation Tuesday for a term not to exceed three years.

The youth, Scott Rowley, was sentenced by county court Judge James V. Sitter. A 12-man jury on March 31 found the youth guilty of the November, 1968, offense.

Judge Sitter sentenced the youth to three years in Wisconsin State Reformatory, Green Bay, and then stayed execution of the sentence in favor of supervision under the state department of health and social services. If he violates the terms of his probation, Judge Sitter warned Rowley, the state department can order him sent directly to the reformatory.

Judge Sitter also told Rowley that, for the first 30 days of the probation period, he will stay in the county jail during non-working hours, not as punishment, but so that he has a place to stay while looking for housing in Oshkosh.

Ambulances Will Continue to Give Menasha Service

NEENAH — A joint meeting of the city's public protection committee and Menasha officials Monday afternoon steered the way toward a boost in the Neenah ambulance rates while continuing service to Menasha.

Menasha Mayor John Klein and Ald. Ronald Scheurle told the committee the ambulance service is still welcome in Menasha, although the city recently agreed to enter a contract with Ambulance Associates Inc.

The two cities, Scheurle said, are more than big enough to have the two ambulance services. Besides, there are residents of Menasha who are used to calling the Neenah ambulance.

"It is important we keep moving our whole system of education forward," he said.

During the four-hour-long meeting, task force committee members went over the different areas which the task force will study.

The areas include, organization and structure, financing policies, institutional administration, management sciences and teaching technology, private education role, education and training for employment, speci-

Policeman Denies Charges That Led To Suspension

NEENAH — Police Detective Sergeant William T. Richey today flatly denied charges that he had made improper advances to a woman which led to his suspension from the police department.

A hearing was being conducted this morning by the Neenah Police and Fire Commission on Richey's suspension on charges of "conduct unbecoming a police officer."

Official charges against Richey were filed by Police Chief Lawrence Malouf on March 31. By mutual agreement Richey had not been reporting for work since March 18 when the subject was first brought before the police and fire commission. His suspension became effective on March 31.

The woman, Mrs. Sharon Fuller, 29, 620 Jefferson St., Neenah, testified that Richey came to her house on March 4 and made improper advances.

Richey denied the charges and testified that the woman had called him and invited him to her house.

Morris Warzink, representing Richey, challenged the 29-year-old woman's testimony.

She admitted on cross examination by Warzink that her husband was suing her for divorce and attempting to prove her an unfit mother. A recent court order has awarded her custody of their two children.

Johnson Won't Teach Until Fall Semester

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson has decided to defer until next fall his planned series of lectures at Rice University.

Johnson had hoped to discuss government in a series of talks during the current academic term, but a university spokesman said Monday he had been unable to fix on a suitable date.

al education, and management practices.

In addition, Kellett said, the committee would like to set up some type of group which would involve students. He suggested that a student group could get together this summer to study the role of education.

Before the task force committee went into lengthy definitions of each study area, Dave Hancock, a committee member from Chippewa Falls, said the task force committee will look at orderly growth, allocation of resources and structure of the educational system.

The number of students are increasing, he said, and this growth in enrollment is "staggering."

He also pointed out that students are staying in school longer and seeking higher degrees. In 1964, he predicted, there will be more than 35,000 students in graduate schools.

This creates a "fantastic need for classrooms, dormitories and science centers," he said.

Effective spending Not only is it imperative to plan for educational needs, but the state must also find out how effective its funds spent on education have been, Hancock said.

"Does education teach relevant skills for our technological advancing society," he asked.

Education, Hancock said, is the largest public investment in the state and concerns every facet of life.

"It develops from the cradle to the grave the social values that really determine the life of our society," he said.

Also speaking during the meeting on the different areas of study were Abbott Byfield, Neenah; William Kraus, Stevens Point; George Kaiser, Milwaukee and Sheldon B. Lubar, Milwaukee.

Angus Rothwell, chairman of

Tuition Plan Aimed at Plugging 'Brain Drain'

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — A unique plan to discourage the "brain drain" from Wisconsin by the management of tuition schedules at the state institutions of higher learning has been presented in the legislature by four members of the state assembly.

They would rewrite the laws to penalize in the form of belated tuition charges those resident students graduated from Wisconsin institutions of higher education who decide to leave Wisconsin after graduation.

and to reward those non-resident students who decide to take up residence here after the completion of their studies.

The formula was devised by Assemblymen John Parkin of Wood County, Kenneth Merkel of Waukesha County, Joseph Tregoning of LaFayette and Green Counties and Francis Byers of Waupaca County.

They would require resident students to sign a note in an amount equal to the difference between nonresident and resident tuition for the period of their enrollment, payable to the state.

If the student graduates and remains an income tax-paying resident of Wisconsin, one note would be waived for each year in which he pays Wisconsin income taxes. If he does not graduate, or moves from the state upon graduation, he would be required to pay the outstanding amount of the notes, together with 5 per cent interest, at the rate of one note per year.

Conversely, persons paying nonresident tuition to a state university would be given coupons in the same amount as the note signed annually by the resident student.

If upon graduation they become income tax-paying residents of this state, they would be authorized to reduce their income tax payment in each year by the amount of one coupon.

Industrial development leaders in Wisconsin have publicly deplored the comparatively heavy migration of highly educated and trained persons to other parts of the country.

MADISON — Fox Valley counties are among 43 in the state where 27 development, improvement, maintenance and beautification projects will be handled through the State Department of Transportation. The department is taking bids today for the projects.

The projects include 28 miles of grading, 49 miles of base course and 43 miles of surfacing, 19 structures, eight bridge maintenance jobs and four weed control projects involving 34 counties, plus larger projects in a few counties.

Weed control projects include Outagamie County, 24 miles; Calumet, 38 miles; Shawano, 25 miles (including U.S. 45 from Wittenberg to Marion); Winnebago, 26 miles; and Fond du Lac, 115 miles.

Fond du Lac also has projects for widening, construction and improvements of E. Fond du Lac Street (State 23) in Ripon, and relocation, grading, base course and concrete pavement on 23 in Ripon.

Winnebago County plans repairs to the deck of the Oak Street bridge at Neenah.

A crisis hit Karras Restaurant at 7:10 a.m. today when restaurateur Nick Karras discovered the place had run out of coffee. It was a first for the establishment where the "golden cup" is the Karras brothers' trademark. As one regular put it, "This is like a saloon running out of whiskey."

Sons of Norway to Establish Fraternal Unit in Appleton

Sons of Norway, the largest American-Norwegian fraternal society in North America, will establish a unit in the Appleton area, it was announced today.

Everett M. Lee, Appleton, local membership chairman, said that he is working with the district and home offices and hopes to have a lodge organized soon.

Lee, a member of the Idun Lodge at Madison, said he thinks there are enough people of Norwegian background in the Appleton area to support a lodge. The society has 250 lodges in the United States and Canada, with a membership exceeding 50,000.

One of its purposes is to maintain the culture of Norway and promote good relationships with that country. This is done through flights to Norway and by sponsoring activities with a Norwegian flavor.

The society also sponsors scholarships to the Oslo (Norway) summer school, and Norwegian classes are held in many communities. Children also can attend camps where Norwegian is the language of the day.

The home office is in Minneapolis, Minn., where it was organized in 1895. A 75th anniversary celebration is slated next year.

Earl W. Johnson, regional society manager, expects the new Appleton lodge to play a major role in the festivities.

Restrictions Proposed On Sale of Lists From Vehicle Registration

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — Have you wondered how soliciting and sales organizations have reached you by mail? One method is the use of the state's motor vehicle registration lists, which include most of the households of the state, and which are for sale under present Wisconsin law.

A new bill by a group of legislators, including Sen. Alex Meunier of Door, Kewaunee and Manitowish counties, would severely restrict such sales by limiting purchasers to charitable organizations and motor vehicle manufacturers.

Worthless Check Charge Admitted By Appleton Man

A 25-year-old Appleton man who wrote $626 in worthless checks in Outagamie and Winnebago counties, appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 Monday afternoon.

Robert Richter, 235 E. Wilson St., pleaded guilty of issuing a worthless $49 check Oct. 14 at Doering's Super-Valu, 231 Walter Ave.

The district attorney's office told the court that Richter issued 10 checks, totaling $318 in Outagamie County, and eight checks totaling $308 in Winnebago County. Formal charges were not issued on the other checks, but they will be taken into consideration, the court noted.

Judge Nick F. Schaefer ordered a pre-sentence investigation and set sentencing for May 6. Richter was ordered held in jail without bond until the initial phase of the pre-sentence investigation is completed.

One of the advantages you gain with a First Wisconsin Charge Card is having a neater looking wallet.

Your Charge Card is good at 3,639 service stations in Wisconsin—representing 34 different brands. No need to carry two or three gasoline credit cards.

Claim Green Bay Pollution Control Order Premature

Counsel Says Cooperative Efforts To Clean Up Fox Are Endangered

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Proceedings before the state Department of Natural Resources ordering the Green Bay Metropolitan Sewerage District to reduce its bypassing of wastes from its treatment plant are a bar to "cooperative" efforts to clean up the Fox River, it was claimed Monday.

Green Bay attorney Meyer Cohen representing the district maintained that the proceedings block continued efforts by state and local engineers to lower pollution levels in the river and Green Bay.

"These are scientific, technical and engineering problems," he told Lester P. Voigt, secretary of the state department who held the hearing because of the objections raised by the district to the proposed order of department hearing examiner Maurice Van Susteren.

"These are not matters for a bunch of lawyers to stand around arguing about," Cohen said.

Such proceedings, he warned, "end the cooperative efforts we have made with the state to actually clean up the river. We are being driven into the courts and the legislature because we cannot comply with this kind of an order," said Cohen.

Cohen's comments came in the arguments raised by the district to the recommended order drafted by Van Susteren after hearings into the complaint raised by Arthur L. Kaftan and five associates.

The complaint alleged that the sewerage district bypasses large amounts of untreated wastes into the Fox River and Green Bay and that the district does not intend to alleviate the conditions for five years or more.

The recommended order is before Voigt and the state board for possible alteration and issuance.

The crux of Cohen's arguments contended that the work contained in the proposed order is either unreasonable or is being accomplished by the district on its own.

Kaftan countered that the history of the district contains numerous instances of ignoring similar state orders and of noncompliance with public statements of policy made by the commissioners of the district.

Renew Stench

Cohen had contended that the first portion of the three part recommended order prepared by Van Susteren could lead to renewed stench problems around the East River in the city.

He said that the proposal would require that the district stop allowing wastes and storm waters to bypass its treatment plant and flow into the Fox River in times of heavy storms and instead allow them to flow once more into the East River.

He rejected the singling out of the Green Bay district for the application of such an order. No other polluter of the Fox River is being told to abate its pollution by 1971, he said.

The federal and state standards for such projects hold that such separation work should be completed by 1977, he said.

The demand for a new treatment plant by 1972 is unreasonable as well considering the lack of such a requirement on the rest of the Valley, he argued.

Order Premature

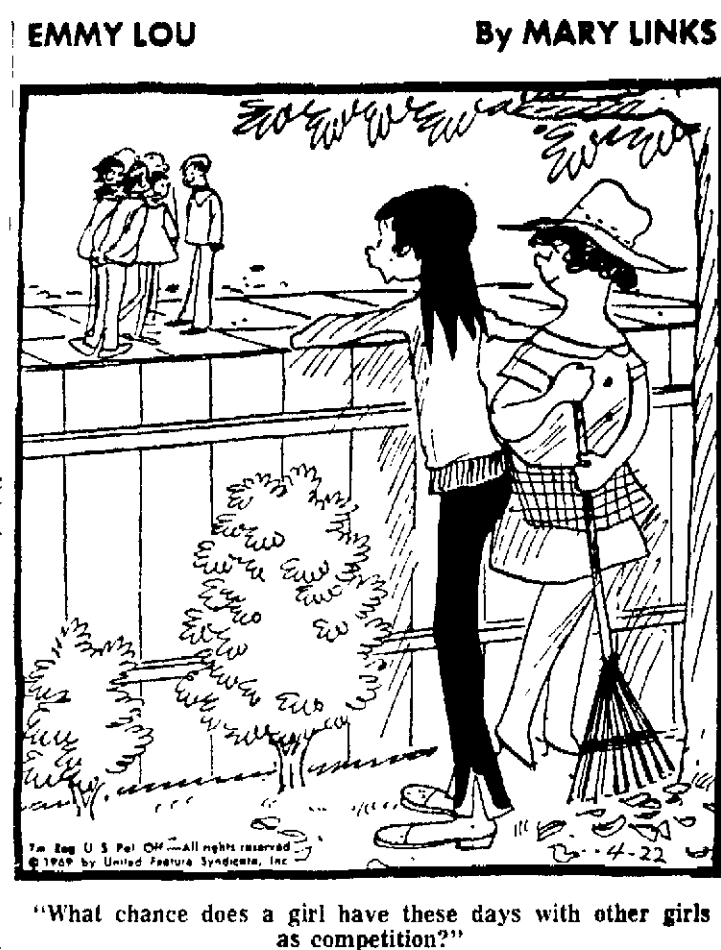

"I don't know why the people at the mouth of the river should stand for an order that's going to cost them $10 million unless they know that the same kind of order is going to be issued against the rest of the people up the river."

"When the state has enough information to issue this kind of an order, we will be the first to applaud it. But we just think that it is premature at this time," said Cohen.

Voigt's decision will be delayed for at least two weeks for the filing of briefs by Cohen.

Secret Meeting Would Cost Official His Job Under Democrats' Plan

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Five Wisconsin assembly Democrats, including William Rogers of Kaukauna and Bert Grover of Shawano, have devised a stern penalty for public officials who violate the state's comprehensive law prohibiting secrecy in governmental operations.

Under their bill presented to the legislature, a public official would automatically become vacant when an incumbent participates in a closed session of a governmental body in violation of the open meeting laws.

State Makes Payments for Lift Bridges

Credit allocations for connecting streets totaling $7,600 are available in Outagamie County to Little Chute $1,075, New London $340, Kaukauna $1,720, and Appleton, $4,465.

County Credits

Calumet County credits amounting to $885 have been allocated, with $755 going to Chilton and $140 to Kiel.

Waupaca County has credits totaling $2,815, of which Clintonville will receive $1,105, Waupaca $1,155, and that portion of New London in Waupaca County, $555.

Credits issued in Winnebago County include Menasha $1,390, Neenah $1,600, and Oshkosh $5,420 for a county total of $8,410.

Statewide Payments

Statewide, checks and credit allotments, to 105 cities and 10 villages in 56 counties for swing or lift bridge operation and the upkeep of "connecting streets," totaled $385,370. Credits need not be used immediately, but may be "saved" and accumulated for future improvements.

Payments for bridges are made only for those located on streets that connect state highway routes through the municipality.

PEERLESS LAUNDRIES & DRY CLEANERS

Area Fortunate to Get Saar Chamber Group

BY DAVID F. WAGNER

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Appleton was one of a select two dozen cities chosen for the American debut tour of the Chamber Orchestra of the Saar, Germany's renowned 16-member Baroque ensemble.

The benefits of Appleton's good fortune unfolded through-out Monday evening's concert in the Lawrence University Memorial Chapel, which concluded the 1968-69 Lawrence Community Artists Series.

Under the expert baton of Antonio Janigro, who was appointed conductor following the death of group founder Karl Restenpart in 1967, the ensemble performed the expected Baroque numbers before intermission, drawing from Arcangelo Corelli (Concerto grosso in D Major, Opus 6, No. 4), Giovanni Battista Pergolesi (Concertino No. 2 in G Major) and J. S. Bach (Concerto for Violin, String Orchestra and Basso continuo in E Major, BWV 1042). The latter featured violin soloist Georg-Friedrich Hendel, a very proficient artist who was able to handle the difficult contrapuntal aspects of the piece.

Fresh Performance

If the Bach selection was the most familiar selection of the first half, the Corelli Concerto grosso (a form for which he has been given undeserved credit for creating) was the freshest and seemed to have better tempo. The Bach concerto, while performed with workmanlike execution, tended to plod, due to the challenging counterpoint.

The Pergolesi piece was a good bridge between the other selections, thus fulfilling a role befitting such occasional music, which is not to suggest occasional music is less significant than other forms — as witness the Mozart selection later.

The second half featured a variety of material, including works by Charles Ives (Hymn for Strings), Wolfgang Fortner ("Immagini") and Mozart (Serenata notturna for Strings and Timpani in D Major, K. 239).

The Ives Hymn is short, but it served as an appropriate opener for what was ahead. Fortner's "Immagini," Conductor Janigro must have relished leading his ensemble through the formidable roadblocks Fortner has laid, because the composer dedicated the 1967 work to Janigro. As the program notes state, Fortner was "primarily concerned with taking the string orchestra out of its conventional role and making use of all its possible sonorities." The experimentation is exciting, and if a reviewer may be permitted a personal favorite, the Fortner was mine for Monday night's concert.

Many Parallels

Evident in the razor-sharp five-movement composition were parallels to modern electronic music, particularly in some of the complex tension-release patterns. Also noticeable were similarities to avant-garde jazz artists. Some of the same things that inspire them must have inspired Fortner, if a paraphrase of Edward Albee may be permitted.

The audience, unfortunately small (not more than half full) for an attraction of such importance, seemed not to share my enthusiasm for the Fortner work. Applause were polite, but lacked the warmth of other ovations.

Mozart's occasional music, as mentioned above, is significant and among the most popular of the form. Serenata notturna was

The Post-Crescent B 4
Tuesday, April 22, 1969

a striking contrast to the preceding Fortner composition and its flowing melodies, expressed through smooth violin work and a string quartet within the orchestra, salvaged whatever edginess detractors of the Fortner work might have had.

Youth Found Guilty, Innocent

Feb. 27 to get the marijuana which Brooks admitted he later hid under the rock in the Kaukauna Park.

Brooks testified they got the marijuana (about 12 ounces) from a Menasha area person whom he said he knew only as "Shadow." He said the Appleton youth then drove him to Kaukauna where he hid the material.

Drove to Kaukauna
The informant, according to testimony, returned to Brooks' apartment the morning of Feb. 28 with two other youths, one of whom Brooks said wanted to buy the marijuana. Brooks and the three youths then drove to Kaukauna in the informant's car. That is when detectives nabbed Brooks.

Under cross-examination by R. Thomas Cane, assistant district attorney, Brooks admitted that the 12 ounces of marijuana was his, that he "was considering" selling the marijuana, that he had sold marijuana in the past, that he bought the 12 ounces of marijuana three weeks before Feb. 28, and that he did not know the Appleton youth was an informant.

Defense attorney Dennis Wydeven, in his closing arguments to the jury, criticized prosecution through the use of informants. He termed their use "a difficult point of law." He questioned letting one or more persons go free on the premise that it "helps justice."

"Police, by using informants, choose who they will or will not prosecute," Wydeven held.

He told the jury that in relation to the Oct. 30 drug charge, the two informants who testified "were not sure of their stories" or clear on their dates. In relation to the Feb. 28 charge, Wydeven held that had it not been for the police informant, "... a crime would not have been committed."

Cane, in his rebuttal argument, did not deny an earlier inference by Wydeven that informants are "shadowy characters." He added, "... these are the kind of people who are involved in narcotics. Sometimes we're criticized for using informants, but how else are we going to find out who's using and selling marijuana."

"The people we're looking for are the sellers and the suppliers," Cane declared.

Three other youths, including two other Appleton brothers, were in Juvenile Court earlier on charges arising out of the same airport burglaries and vandalism. They also were required to make restitution. All five boys appeared in court on complaints brought by the Outagamie County Sheriff's Department.

Among loot taken during the airport burglaries were many flight-related items. Money also was missing. Some of the merchandise was recovered at the boys' homes, investigators said. The boys involved live near the airport.

At 6 p.m. Monday, fire fighters were called to Bohl and Maeser, Inc., 201 N. Appleton St., when a malfunction occurred in a fluorescent light.

A Special Guest was welcomed in a special way to Appleton Monday night. Chauncey Cooke, right, Eau Claire, governor of Wisconsin-Upper Michigan district of Kiwanis International, made his annual visit to the Fox Valley division which includes eight clubs

Rezoning Plea Turned Down By Commission

and would serve a good purpose in the 13th Ward.

Good Planning
"Such a fine operation falls within the guidelines of good planning," Sigman said. He indicated the proposed new facility would add to the neighborhood.

Sigman said McClone had additional undeveloped property in the area and would do nothing to jeopardize it or the area.

Thompson said he and his constituents had no objections to modern service stations but insisted they be located in areas already zoned for commercial use—not to carve into residential developments to provide for them.

Sign Petition
McClone said he talked to some of the people for which he had built homes in the area and they had not objected to the proposed service station. However, Thompson said those same people signed the petition opposing the rezoning.

Some homeowners said McClone told them the area would always remain residential in character. They alleged he had the area built up and then set aside the corner property for a filling station. They claimed he had not kept his word to those who had purchased property and homes there. This was denied by McClone. Another rezoning request—this one by Jerome Gresl for rezoning of a lot in Gillett Highlands from single to two-family residential—also was recommended for denial by the commission.

Market Posts More Losses

Reaction to Tax News Continues; Dow Losses 4.83

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market remained on lower ground early this afternoon with investors reported as still reacting to a recommendation.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 4.83 at 912.68.

Declines led advances by about 375 issues.

The market's decline, brokers said, largely was a continuation of Monday's reaction to the administration's proposal that the 7 per cent tax credit be repealed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 1.8 at 328.3, with industrials off 2.8, rails off 1.2, and utilities off .2.

Conglomerate issues generally were lower, with AMK Corp. off 1½.

Youngstown Sheet led the 20 most-active stocks on the New York Stock Exchange, 11 of which declined, 5 advanced, and 4 were unchanged.

Asamera Oil was the most-active issue on the American Stock Exchange, up 1 at 32¼.

Towns Sanitary Problems Not Solved by Task Force

drainage basins should be taken into account when setting up a district. "You can't ignore this pattern," he said.

Natural Drainage

Using the Fox Cities as an example, Dr. Goff said if a metropolitan sewerage district was ever to be created, the most logical place for a treatment plant would be northeast of Kaukauna to take advantage of the natural drainage toward that direction.

From a political standpoint he also questioned the wisdom of having individual county control when districts may cross county lines. "Can you see the problems involved in getting a bond issue through two or three county boards?" he asked.

Goff also felt better technical excellence could be obtained on a metropolitan sewerage commission than on a smaller county commission.

Ability Questioned
Other officials also have questioned the ability of counties to successfully operate in the field of sanitary districts because of the area-wide involvement of the problem.

While the Fox Cities area is somewhat unique with a potential three-county involvement in sanitary districts, there are numerous situations in the state where two counties are now involved in individual districts, particularly in southeastern Wisconsin.

The Tarr Task Force recommendation also does not solve the problem of existing town sanitary districts which contract with other municipalities for sewage treatment. City sewage operations would not be affected by the Tarr proposal.

New Procedure Requested on County Board should be "well stated and prepared," but questioned whether some supervisors could present as effective a written motion as others. He suggested the more eloquent supervisors would dominate.

Supv. Russell DeLaHunt, Kaukauna, suggested the county board chairman should use a stronger hand in controlling discussion. He said the chairman should "rap the gavel" more, and be able to see the direction of discussion and bring it to the conclusion wanted by the majority.

However, DeLaHunt argued that political maneuvering must be maintained so a representative can be fair to his constituents. He warned the board should not be tied up in rules.

Element of Surprise
He added: "I don't want to be denied the element of surprise because that is part of the game (of politics)."

County Board Chairman Sylvester Esler also contended that some actions must come out on the floor and not necessarily be well-prepared.

"I don't think we're doing too bad; we're trying to run a good government," he said.

"If I began to use his gavel to prevent confusion," Esler suggested, "the gavel will be pounding all the time."

Miller noted the organizational meeting last week had lasted three days, one longer than planned. He said this cost the county probably $1,000 in supervisors' pay, an expense which could have been avoided with more efficient meeting operation.

'Human Nature'

Supv. John Schreiter, Appleton, said that it is "human nature" to get into uncontrolled discussions. He suggested guidelines should be set up to help the chairman maintain decorum and clarify what is on the board floor.

Babbitt noted that he was only interested in eliminating confusion. He noted that one supervisor makes a motion and another supervisor stands up and says he'll "second it" if it is amended slightly. The clerk still does not have the original motion written down.

No action was taken at the executive committee meeting, and discussion turned to the role of the committee. Members suggested the committee should keep a watch on all other committee actions and also show foresight in presenting ideas.

During the joint meeting, the committees (finance and executive) accepted duty outlines of each as presented by Babbitt. Babbitt said the role of the executive committee is changed little but the finance committee now is separate from it.

Apartment Building Going Up in Appleton

Developers said they intend to rush completion of the second building.

When the building is completed, The Riviera Corp. will own and operate the two largest apartment buildings in Appleton. Atkins said it owns a 48-unit structure in another section of the city.

The developers acquired the property in the early 1960s and they told city officials they eventually would invest upwards of $2.5 to $3 million in meeting their goal of 228 living units.

To make it possible for the huge complex to be developed, the city vacated the proposed extensions of Birchwood and Edgewood streets from Marquette to Pershing.

The Kiwanis Northside Park is located to the east of the Riviera Apartments.

Parking

Atkins said the plans showed there would be "more than adequate" area reserved for parking, meeting all municipal requirements for apartment construction. Each apartment has its own sliding doors and patio area.

The second building, for which the permit has been issued and construction will start soon, will be similar to the first, according to the plans on file in the department of inspections at city hall.

wheel driver education instructors with one year experience and an increase of 35 cents per hour, to $4.60 for driver education coordinator.

The board offered to increase its portion of medical insurance premiums from 50 to 70 per cent; to add a step to the grievance procedure to provide for "advisory arbitration" by an outside neutral party; to continue pay for credits earned by the teachers to satisfy a "professional growth" requirement of six credits every five years and to pay $25 for undergraduate credits and $40 for graduate credits. The board agreed to accept certain non-credit courses, without reimbursement, to satisfy the "professional growth" requirement.

Final offers in the board's proposal called for reinstatement of the sabbatical leave provisions found in current contracts and pay of $5.50 per hour for summer school work, the same as last summer.

About $100 worth of merchandise was taken during a weekend burglary at Fox Valley Appraisals, Inc., 2900 N. Meade St.

The burglary was reported Monday afternoon. Police said burglars entered the building through a basement window. Office desks were ransacked.

Among the missing items were a transistor radio, tape recorder, a labeling machine, a flashlight and office supplies.

Man Dies When Auto Hits Trees

The death of a young man has sent Wisconsin's 1969 traffic toll to 205, compared with 301 on this date one year ago.

James C. Hoile, 22, of rural Lyndon Station was killed early today when his car struck some trees after leaving Highway 12 in Fort Atkinson.

Turn a Few Small Twigs Into A Set of Miniature Furniture

BY CAPPY DICK

A few small twigs, a piece of cardboard and some glue are all a boy or girls needs to have an hour's fun making miniature rustic furniture like the armchair in figure 3 and the dining the thickest twig you have. Each should be two and a half inches long. These will be the back legs of the chair. Cut two other twigs, each one and a quarter inches long, for the front legs. These should be as thick as the back legs. Cut a piece of cardboard for the seat. Punch four holes so the twig legs can be pushed through snugly as in figure 1.

You will need six small twigs for rungs, joining the legs together. Figure 3 shows where to place them with glue. Two should be glued to the underside of the seat, one at the left, the other at the right. The other four should be glued to the legs. Glue some very small twigs across the back as in Figure 3.

For the arms, glue two curved twigs in place. Spread glue over the seat and cover it with small twigs, completing the chair.

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, April 22, the 112th day of 1969. There are 253 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history. On this date in 1889, thousands of homesteaders swarmed into the Oklahoma Territory and staked out claims to government territory.

On this date

In 1370, the first stone of the fortress and prison known as the Bastille was laid in Paris.

In 1793, the United States proclaimed its neutrality in a war between France and Britain.

In 1864, the U.S. Congress authorized the mint to use the motto, "In God We Trust," on coins.

In 1898 the first shot was fired in the Spanish-American war. The U.S.S. "Nashville" captured a Spanish merchant ship off Key West, Fla.

In 1915 the Germans used poison gas for the first time in World War I in the battle at Ypres, Belgium.

In 1944 in the Pacific war, Allied soldiers invaded New Guinea.

Ten years ago—Christian A. Herter was sworn in as secretary of state after the resignation of John Foster Dulles, who was gravely ill.

Five years ago—The New York World's Fair opened.

One year ago—The Interstate Commerce Commission moved to force railroads to meet certain standards in passenger train accommodations.

NBC Special On College Disorders

BY TV SCOUT

6:30-8 — Channel 5 — BEST BETS—The NBC News series, White Paper: The Ordeal of the American City, takes on one of the most popular controversies of the day, student unrest, and gives the subject a dimension sorely needed in these times. The program is titled "Confrontation," and focuses on the seething unrest at San Francisco State College. Various involved people are featured, expressing their opinions in a series of segments that holds together so that one idea is allowed to play off another. They represent the views of the radical and conservative elements, the university administration, faculty, an alumnus and even an average cop who is bewildered more than anyone by the swirling, bitter dissension.

9-10 — Channel 2 — The prestigious TV magazine, 60 Minutes, turns to gossip tonight, but gossip on a high and even historic level. Premiere guest is 85-year-old Alice Roosevelt Longworth, the widow of Congressman Nicholas Longworth, onetime Speaker of the House, and daughter of President Theodore Roosevelt. Mrs. Longworth has enjoyed the reputation of having been closer to the White House inhabitants since the turn of the century than any other living American.

6:30-7:30 — Channel 2 — Lancer plays out its season with one of its triter scripts, saved by the characterization of a badman boss by Joseph Campanella. Murdoch Lancer is the featured regular, chasing some stage coach bandits to a border town, controlled by Campanella. When he arrives, the boss baddie has him jailed on phony charges and Murdoch has to use all his wiles to save his hide.

6:30-7:30 — Channel 11 — The eerie setting of a deserted amusement park provides the dramatic background for a tense chase sequence on The Mod Squad. The trio goes back to school, after a pretty teacher is killed and a pupil disappears. The story revolves around a loan shark and a stolen car ring, with the missing student hiding in "fun city" while waiting to revenge the death of the teacher.

7:30-8:30 — Channel 11 — Newsman Alex Dreier is certainly escalating his extra-curricular careers, appearing in a dramatic role tonight on It Takes a Thief. He is the feature of the play, which you may find a bit too confusing to be amusing. It has to do with Red Chinese development of a new type laser beam.

7:30-8:30 — Channel 2 — Sergio Franchi brings his big but mellow singing voice to The Red Skelton Hour, offering "L-O-V-E" and an Italian ballad, "Non Ti Scordar Di Me." He also dons the armour of the Black Knight to joust with Clem Kaddiddehopper for the hand of a princess.

8-10 — Channel 5 — Put the kiddies to bed before Tuesday Night at the Movies comes on with another showing of "Never On Sunday." It's the Melina Mercouri movie about the plight of a Greek prostitute trying to resist the esthetic advances of an American philosopher. He wants to save her from her sordid existence, which she had found quite satisfactory until now.

8:30-9 — Channel 2 — Even the most ardent DD fans will have to admit that The Doris Day Show tonight is the epitome of TV triteness. She and Buck are playing cupid to Juanita and a new date, a sporting goods store owner.

Orioles' Jim Palmer Hurls Second Shutout of Year

Minnesota Stops Oakland for Seventh Straight Win; Tigers Triumph on Sparma's 2-Hitter

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Palmer, restored from the scrap heap, has helped Baltimore's high-flying Orioles to a first place perch in the American League's East Division.

Palmer won his third game of the young season Monday night, limiting Cleveland to four hits in Baltimore's 11-0 romp. It was the second shutout for Palmer, who won 15 games for the Orioles when they captured the pennant in 1966 but was virtually useless for the last two seasons because of arm and back trouble.

Palmer's aches and pains are all gone now and the ones who are really hurting are the Indians, who dropped their fifth straight and 10th in 11 starts this season.

Harrelson in Parley With Indians' Paul

Outcome of Monday Talks in New York Not Disclosed

By LARRY ELDRIDGE
BOSTON (AP) — Ken Harrelson, the reluctant Indian who announced his retirement rather than go along with a trade sending him away from Boston, has reportedly been meeting with Cleveland officials to discuss the possibility of donning his new uniform.

The 1968 American League runs-batted-in leader was said to be huddling Monday night with Gabe Paul, president and general manager of the Indians, at a New York hotel.

There was no immediate word on the outcome of their talks.

Harrelson announced Sunday that he was quitting baseball at the age of 27 rather than accept being traded away by the Red Sox.

He claimed that leaving Boston would cost him up to $750,000 in Boston business opportunities, including a clothing store, a night club, and television and recording deals—all contingent on his staying in this city.

Detroit Wins

Elsewhere in the American League Monday, Detroit blanked Washington 2-0, Seattle tripped Kansas City 4-1, Minnesota took Oakland 8-4 and New York topped Boston 6-4. Chicago and California were not scheduled.

Palmer's arm trouble limited him to 37 innings pitched last year in minor league stops at Elmira, Rochester and Miami. But he regained his touch pitching winter ball in Puerto Rico and he has been Baltimore's best pitcher this season.

Monday's shutout lowered his earned run average to 1.69. He has allowed just 18 hits in 26 2/3 innings and has struck out 19 batters.

Merv Rettenmund cracked a three-run homer for the Orioles in a six-run seventh inning that wrapped up the victory over Sam McDowell. Brooks Robinson had doubled two runs across as the Orioles built an early 4-0 lead for Palmer.

Joe Sparma allowed Washington just two hits—a fourth-inning double by Bernie Allen and a two-out single in the ninth by Ed Brinkman—but the Detroit right-hander was in constant trouble because of eight walks. It was his sixth straight decision over the Senators.

Al Kaline homered for the Tigers.

Drives in Pair

Pitcher Mike Marshall drove in two runs with two key singles and limited Kansas City to seven hits, leading Seattle to its victory in the meeting between the two expansion clubs. Jack Aker nailed down the victory by getting the final out in the ninth for Marshall.

Dean Chance worked seven innings, allowing just two hits, and Minnesota beat Oakland for the Twins' seventh straight victory.

Harmon Killebrew and Graig Nettles punched a pair of two-run singles to pace a five-run Minnesota uprising in the third inning and Tony Oliva extended his hitting streak to nine games with a pair of singles.

Mel Stottlemyre won his fourth game with late-inning help from Lindy McDaniel securing New York's decision over the Red Sox. Three Yankee double plays in the first five innings.

Lakers-Celtics Series Could Run Through May 5

NEW YORK (AP) — Walter Kennedy, commissioner of the National Basketball Association, announced Monday the full schedule of the NBA's championship playoff series between the Boston Celtics and Los Angeles Lakers.

The series opens in Los Angeles on Wednesday and continues there Friday. Game No. 3 is set for Sunday afternoon in Boston and Game No. 4 will be in Boston on Tuesday, April 29.

The teams move back to the West Coast, if a fifth game is necessary, on Thursday, May 1. If a sixth game is needed it will be played in Boston Saturday, May 3, and a seventh game, if needed, would be in Los Angeles on Monday, May 5.

Purdue Grid Star Leroy Keyes was arrested Monday on the Lafayette, Ind., campus when he was involved in a demonstration by students to protest a raise in tuition. Demonstrators were told they were illegally occupying a university building, and after 10 minutes, police began making arrests. (AP Wirephoto)

Foxes to be Feted

Pick Hutchinson Banquet Speaker

Ira Hutchinson, former major league pitcher and veteran member of the Chicago White Sox organization, will be the principal speaker at Thursday night's "Welcome Home" banquet for the Appleton Foxes.

The banquet is set for 6:30 p.m. in the Columbus Club. Manger Tom Saffell and the 1969 Foxes will be introduced to area fans.

After 33 years as a player, a manager and a coach, Hutchinson is currently involved in promotional work for the Chicago Sox.

"Hutch" pitched for four major league teams — the White Sox, the Boston Braves, the Brooklyn Dodgers and the St. Louis Cardinals. He wound up his playing career in 1949 and scouted for the Cards in 1950.

Hutchinson rejoined the White Sox organization as Wisconsin Rapids manager in the Wisconsin State League in 1951. He later managed in the Three-I, the Western Association, the Western and South Atlantic, the Midwest, the Florida State and the Northern Leagues.

Wednesday, Michigan Tech and Lakeland will be at Lawrence for a meet that gets underway at 3 p.m.

Saturday, the strong Stevens Point and Oshkosh State University teams will invade the Vike oval for another 3-way test at 1 p.m.

Coach Gene Davis' Vikings opened the regular season by rolling to a 112-29 victory over Knox and followed that up by blitzing Ripon College, 97-41 last Saturday. In a 3-way meet, the Vikes downed Beloit and Milton.

Ron Messmann, senior co-captain and sophomore Mark Frodeson have captured a pair of firsts in each of the meets. Messmann won the 100 and 220-yard dashes in each Lawrence victory while Frodeson took the long jump and triple jump in each outing.

The Vikes took 15 firsts in 16 events against Knox and grabbed firsts in 13 events against Ripon. Lawrence also had 13 firsts in the triangular.

Dodgers Bring Halt To Marichal Jinx; St. Louis Ends Slide

Cards Win on Bases-Loaded Walk; Unearned Runs Aid 7-5 LA Victory

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Say Hey kid nestled back into his old spot with success, but it didn't prevent the sizzling Los Angeles Dodgers from breaking an old jinx against Juan Marichal.

The Dodgers, taking advantage of a pair of costly errors, scored five unearned runs in the fifth inning en route to a 7-5 victory Monday night, knocking Marichal out of the box for the first time in 11 meetings. It was the Dodgers' seventh straight triumph.

Meanwhile, Willie Mays returned to his old No. 3 spot in the batting order, after hitting leadoff in the Giants' first 11 games, and responded with two singles in three official trips.

In action elsewhere in the National League, St. Louis broke its seven game home losing streak with a 5-4 victory over Montreal. Philadelphia edged New York 2-1 in 11 innings. Cincinnati ripped Houston 11-5, and Atlanta checked San Diego 5-2 to maintain its 1/2 game edge over the Dodgers in the West Division.

Good Start

Marichal, who has a 25-12 lifetime mark against Los Angeles, kept the Dodgers in check until Willie Crawford's leadoff homer in the fourth and Tom Haller's double and Paul Popovich's single produced a 2-0 lead in the fifth.

Then errors by Don Mason and Willie McCovey opened the floodgates for Los Angeles. Mason's error enabled Crawford to reach first, and Bill Russell followed with an infield single.

Wes Parker sacrificed, but McCovey dropped Marichal's throw to first and Crawford came in. Andy Kosco and pitcher Bill Singer each produced run-scoring singles and Ted Sizemore singled home two runs before Ron Herbel came in to replace Marichal, who lost his first game after winning two.

Singer picked up his third straight victory, but needed relief help when the Giants scored four runs in the eighth.

Henry Working Hard

Jordan Hasn't Made Up His Mind About A 13th NFL Season

BY LEE REMMEL
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

GREEN BAY — Henry Jordan rumbled three miles in 26 minutes Monday.

This intelligence may not be calculated to shake up Jim Ryan, but it was a source of satisfaction to the Packer coaching staff, which has been spreading the conditioning gospel with evangelistic fervor of late.

"Phil will be pleased to hear this," aide Wayne Robinson beamed as he reported Jordan's time at Packer headquarters, "particularly since he was out here running in our tests only Saturday."

Henry, still attempting to determine whether he is up to a 13th season of National Football League combat, pointed out, "this is the first time in my life

I've ever run three miles. . . I'm a little sore."

But he enthused about the Pack's new off-season running program, adding, "of course, we've always gotten letters in off-season advising us to jog or exercise to stay in shape. "But," he quipped, "we always filed those Phil's making it kind of hard, especially when you live in town."

Depressing Off-Season

"Even those who live out of town have been working at it, though I think it's mainly because it's been a depressing off-season," Henry drawled. "This gives everybody a little more incentive."

Elaborating, he added, "the old theory always has been, you run, and then when you're tired, you exert yourself. In this

Wants Milwaukee in AL

Better Radio-TV Package Keeping Sox in Chicago, Declares Haney

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A more lucrative radio-TV package in Chicago is keeping the White Sox from moving their franchise to Milwaukee, Fred Haney said Monday.

Haney, now vice president of the California Angels, managed clubs he was talking about. However, Lou Johnson, an ational League pennant in 1957 Angel outfielder disagreed with his boss.

This town wouldn't support an American League club," Johnson said. "It's accustomed to the National League after Haney said. "That's what's keeping them there. They have a superior package in Chicago."

The Pale Horse reportedly is receiving $12 million over 10 years for the television-radio package in Chicago.

Haney accompanied the Angels to Milwaukee Sunday night. The American League team will stay here until Friday when it will go to Kansas City. "Milwaukee has everything here ready to go," Haney said. "Why wait?"

"Cubs are Entrenched"

"They already have one big league team in Chicago. The Cubs are entrenched where they are, and Milwaukee, as close as it is to Chicago, wouldn't affect their operation. They're in another league."

"I personally would like to see Milwaukee in the American League," Haney said. "The city would give us more stability."

The White Sox play 11 "home" games in County Stadium here with the opener against the Angels scheduled Wednesday, night.

NEW LONDON — Steven Sanders hurled eight innings to lead New London (2-0) to a 2-1 win over Manawa Monday in a non-conference game at the Symco field. Rain forced the game to be transferred from Hatten Park Stadium.

Another Road Runner Will Join Green Bay Roster

GREEN BAY — The Packers have another road runner in their midst. Coach Phil Bengtson today announced the signing of Jim Sullivan, a 6-foot-4-inch, 240-pound defensive line man who toiled for the Richmond, Va. Road Runners of the Continental League last season.

Regarded by the Packers coaching staff as a "sleeper," Sullivan will join the Pack's original road runner, halfback Travis Williams, when camp opens in mid-July.

Bengtson also announced the signing of three other free agents, linebacker Don Bliss of the University of Wisconsin, Larry Gosney of Oklahoma State and kicker David Cutler of Canada's Simon Fraser University.

Like Sullivan, Bliss is 6-foot-4, scales 240 pounds. Gosney, 6-foot and 207, though a running back in college, will be tried at linebacker. Scouting reports label him a fierce competitor.

Cutler, 5-foot-11 and 207, was the No. 1 choice of one of Canada's pro teams.

The Packers' prospectus, released over the weekend, also lists seven other free agents on the 1969 roster. Best known of these whereabouts is end Terry Fredenborg of University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, 6-foot-3 and 185 pounds, one of the nation's leading small college receivers the last two years.

The others are fullback Willis Wright, Texas Southern; cornerback John June, Virginia Union; kicker Joe Runk, Princeton; running back Merlin Walet of McNeese, La.; State and safetymen James Street, Utah, and Chuck Detweiler, Utah State.

One name appears on the rookie roster for the second year in a row. Andy Beath, who spent the 1968 season on the Packers taxi squad, is listed as a flanker. The former Duke athlete, the Packers No. 7 draft choice a year ago, also has been tried at defensive back.

Bob Huebner Hits 265 in All-Star Loop

Bob Huebner pounded a 265 game and Matt Valitckha had a 851 series for four games to lead the action in the Sabre Lanes All-Star Classic League Monday night.

Huebner finished with a 830 series and Valitckha had a 248 singleton with his high set.

Roger Blaes was runnerup in series for the All-Star loop with 833 and other leading scores included Chuck Deeg 246-825, Earl Schmidt 821, Pete Kavalski 226-812, Dick Mentzel 796, Roland Clement 796 and Jack Stingle 790.

Jerry Kelberg had a 588 series and Ted Eiting hit 585 to lead the AAA Keglers League at Michiels Bowl Sherwood recently.

Top series in the Kimberly Mill League at Jerry's Lanes was the 570 by Alois Vanden Boogaard Wayne Kilsdonk hit 568 and Bob Verbeten had a 560.

Edd Hargett, Former Texas A & M Star, Signs Saints' Pact

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The New Orleans Saints of the National Football League announced Monday the signing of quarterback Edd Hargett of Texas A&M for the 1969 season.

Hargett was New Orleans' 16th round draft choice last January.

He holds Southwest Conference career records for most passes, completions, passing yardage and total offensive plays. He threw 348 passes for the Aggies last fall, connecting on 169 for 2,321 yards and 16 touchdowns.

Tigers, Hortonville Again Loom Strong

Wrightstown Opens Defense of Title

Two teams which held the Little Nine Conference spotlight in baseball last year should again be top contenders as the 1969 season opens Thursday.

Wrightstown, defending Eastern Division champion and ultimately the league king following a 1-game playoff, and Hortonville, which claimed the Western Division title and then bowed to the Tigers, figure to be the best clubs in the 10-team circuit.

Darkhorse contenders for the league crown may be Shiocton, Brillion and Omro.

In opening league games Thursday, Wrightstown is at home to Reedsville, Hortonville journeys to Omro, Denmark visits Hilbert, and Winneconne hits the road to Shiocton.

Under a new league rule, any game scheduled for a Monday will be played Monday or the following day, Tuesday. If the tilt cannot be played within the 2-day period, it will be cancelled. The same holds true for a Thursday game and Friday makeup date.

The champion will be determined by the best won-lost percentage. To be considered for the championship, a team must have played five games.

Here is a roundup of each team's prospects:

BRILLION — Hoping for a lucky seventh season is head coach Dick Sheahan. Nine letter winners from last year's squad are back, headed by pitchers Frank Cmejla and Russ Hansen. Other veterans are Dan Denor, Bill Grassell, Dick Klein, Jim Michels, Dennis Prince, Darrell Brandes and Louis Kuchenbecker. A pair of youngsters — sophomore Kevin McMahon and freshman Jeff Brandes — will be pushing the holdovers for outfield jobs.

DENMARK — Lack of experience may hurt the Vikings' chances, as just three holdovers are back from the 1968 squad. Catcher Nick Metz, third baseman Dan Karbon and pitcher-outfielder Joe Kralovitz provide the nucleus for new coach Bill Pickard. Other performers who will have to help include pitcher Harvey Schusta, infielders Jerry Leitman, John Wochos, and Doug Leitman plus outfielders Tom Secora and Dave Felner.

FREEDOM — Three regulars return to coach Clarence Colombe, who is beginning his eighth season as pilot of the Irish. The trio of senior veterans include catcher Jon Beyer, pitcher Terry Muenster and outfielder Keith Simons. Three more seniors who lettered as sophomores are back out again — third baseman Dan Rickert, outfielder Rick Weyenberg, and outfielder Tom Busse. Remaining starters are likely to be Dennis Lowney at second; either Pat Murphy or Mike Romanesko in left field; Keith Simons in right field; and Mark Kiel at shortstop. Kiel, a transfer from Neenah, should also help out on the mound.

HILBERT — Glenn Behrent takes over for Jerry Sprenger and inherits just one letterman, pitcher Steve Hemauer. Hemauer is a sure starter along with first baseman Doug Petrie, catcher Ken Pruess, centerfielder Dave Petrie and shortstop Ron Heimerl. Other boys who should work into the lineup are Ron Plate, Elmer Schmidt, Mark Thiel, Le Hemauer and Bo Wollersheim.

HORTONVILLE — With seven lettermen regulars back from last year's Western division championship squad, the Polar Bears should be tough again. New head man Richard Fraaza has important holdovers in pitcher Dick Tennie; infielders Mike Oik, Jerry Rudloff and Mark Everts; and outfielders Dennis Tessen, Tom Van Camp and Eric Pingel. Among best bets to break into the lineup are Jeff Utke, Neil Wunderlich, Tom Dorn, Bob Pankow, Bob Young, and Keith Miller. If Hortonville has some weakness, it may be at catcher and first base, where Jay Cordy and Rick Pankow have been lost via graduation.

OMRO — A strong pitching staff headed by senior Rick Koch is the basis of the Foxes' hopes. Koch and outfielder-catcher Ralph King are the only monogram winners back for fifth-year coach Don Lillie. Top non-lettermen who must come through are pitchers Arvid Green, Ken Koch, and Steve Kratz; infielders Tom Hess, Blair Picard, John and Jim Lenz; plus outfielder Jack Crasman. Ken Koch and Kratz should also see action in the outfield when not involved in pitching duties.

REEDSVILLE — Neil Rundman takes over the coaching reins for Dick Jacobson. The new Panther mentor has nine lettermen to work with, including fourth-year starter Jay Carnard in the outfield. Gary Bernhard will be a key performer on the mound, and Jerry Rathack may again be behind the plate. Remaining holdovers are Dale Decker, Paul Fischer, Mark Roland, Tom Brown,

Vince Bressers Couples Action Leader With 633

Vince Bressers powered a 234 line and wound up with 633 for the top performance in the Cocktail Couples League at Sabre Lanes Saturday night.

Earl Mentzel's 581 was the only other men's high score. Heading the ladies was Lois Bressers, 196-543, followed by Cleone Rohloff, 226-528, and Karla Stingle, 213-501.

The Fish Couples League at Sabre Lanes saw Jim Traas set the pace with a 602 threesome. Jim Fox came in with 558, and Chuck Deeg hit 554. Sharon Kositzke's 501 topped the distaff side.

Jerry Breen's 579 trio led the State Couples League at 41 Bowl. Mauri Martola rapped 587, and Kay Olm toppled 192-513.

A 579 series by Fred Dodson was the best effort in the Newcomer Couples League at 41 Bowl. Tom Bartelt was next with 565, and Bob Tichman rolled 225. Angie Rosenow fired a 525.

The Forest Green Couples League at 41 Bowl witnessed four keggers hit honor scores. Tom Hibbard's 577 took top honors. Alice Mavroff spun a 216-536, "Corky" Behrent 192-522, and Evelyn Myers, 510.

Dennis O'Connor took the WRIGHTSTOWN — Coach Cliff Hinkens got off to a fine start in his initial season at Wrightstown a year ago, guiding the Tigers to the Eastern Division title and then the playoff win over Hortonville. Back from the championship outfit are seven lettermen regulars, making Wrightstown a chief contender again. Holdovers returning include senior pitcher-catcher combination, Larry Edinger and Marty Nackers, along with infielders Carl Haesex and Tom Ribarchek plus outfielders Bill and Pat West, and Clarence Daniels. Top candidates among the new players are Mark Coenen, Joe Martzhal, Tom West, Jerry Boylan and Ken Vander Steen.

WINNECONNE — Sixteen-year veteran coach Jim Carlson must build around just two lettermen regulars, senior center fielder Russ Flanagan and junior catcher Mark Berndt. Otherwise, Carlson will have to depend on newcomers Randy Kasuboski, a sophomore shortstop, and junior pitcher Mike Lee, along with infielders Bill Hoes, John Ryf, Roger Marks and outfielders Bob Cox, Doug Sutter, Kerry Day and Jay Cross. Biggest loss from last season's team was Mike Heath, who had an earned run average below 1.0 and fired a no-hitter against Freedom.

Firms Favored By Bergstrom

New York-Based Operations Still Must Okay Action

NEENAH — Bergstrom

Co. directors gave their approval Monday to the proposed merger of TAB Imprints, Inc. and Integrated Business Systems Corp., both of New York, to Bergstrom.

Their action came after annual stockholders meeting. The needed approval by New York firms' directors is pending. Bergstrom operates the firms — one manufacturing and the other distributing business forms.

Israeli Jets Stage Heavy Raids Over Jordan

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israeli warplanes streaked over Jordan again today, and an Israeli military spokesman said they knocked out the major part of Egypt's early warning radar network. Amman Radio said it was Israel's heaviest air attack in more than a year.

A senior member of the Israeli general staff said the attack on two Egyptian radar sites in south Jordan was a partial answer to Egyptian artillery bombardments over the Suez Canal during the past month.

"There are still a lot of options open to us, and I think we will make use of them in due time," he added in a warning of further action.

Egypt meanwhile reported that its patrols crossed the Suez Canal again during the night to attack Israeli positions on the east bank.

Hit Guerrilla Bases
Israel said its planes also hit two Arab guerrilla bases in north Jordan.

The Israelis said one plane was shot down and the pilot was presumed dead. Jordan said two other Israeli jets were damaged, and Red Crescent officials said they had been told the pilot of one parachuted into southern Jordan and was captured by Saudi Arabian troops stationed there.

7 Arabs Killed
It was believed Egypt's only radar stations left are within its own boundaries west of the canal.

Jordan said seven Arabs, including four soldiers, were killed, and 22 persons were wounded in the series of air strikes.

The guerrilla bases, which the Israeli army termed "concentrations of saboteurs," were in northern Jordan, one near Irbid and the other at Eshtafeina, near Ajlun.

Witnesses in the Beisan Valley said they heard the thud of bombs and saw smoke spiral up beyond the Gilead Mountains, which run between the valley and Irbid.

It was Israel's third major air strike against Jordan this year and followed by one day the year's biggest artillery duel across the Jordan River cease-fire line.

The Israelis gave no details on the length of the raids or the number of planes taking part.

Cairo Radio reported that Egyptian troops crossed the canal during the night, clashed with Israeli defense positions and fought their way out of Israeli ambushes. The report said the Egyptian patrols killed five Israeli troops and returned with only two men wounded.

Third Crossing

An Egyptian military spokesman said the reconnaissance patrols observed Israeli defenses along the entire length of the 103-mile canal. It was the third recent report of Egyptian troops crossing the canal into Israeli-held territory.

Meanwhile, Israel planned to celebrate the 21st anniversary of independence today under strict security precautions and without a full-scale military parade for the first time since the state was created in 1948.

Instead boys in the paramilitary Gadna Youth Brigade were to march unarmed through Jerusalem. The four-mile route only touched the Arab sector of the Holy City. The plans for the parade were in sharp contrast to last year's massive military march through both parts of Jerusalem, a show of force that was condemned by the United Nations.

Thousands of police, civil defense workers, military police and army policemen were on duty in Tel Aviv to watch for terrorists who might try to disrupt street dancing, singing and celebrating planned for tonight.

Thief Steals Cookies, Gets 3½-Year Term

DETROIT (AP) — A man convicted of breaking into a store and stealing five boxes of cookies and who waited 13 months in jail for his trial has been sentenced to another two years and five months behind bars.

Fred Jackson was sentenced to a minimum of 3½ years in Jackson state prison—but Detroit Recorder's Court Judge Samuel E. Olson gave him credit for his long wait for trial.

Olsen said as he sentenced Jackson: "This is not a question of the defendant stealing five boxes of cookies—the gist is the breaking and entering with intent to commit larceny."

Ingenuity? Nope, it was desperation. This young St. Petersburg, Fla., mother wanted to do a little sewing in the park, but baby wanted to wander. Result: a large wire basket became a portable see-through play pen. (AP Wirephoto)

Non-Stop Sailing Voyage British Skipper Given Hero's Welcome at Port

FALMOUTH, England (AP) — The port of Falmouth loaded the town cannon today to welcome Robin Knox-Johnston, the first man to sail around the world alone without stopping.

A fleet of naval ships, pleasure craft, planes and helicopters waited to escort the 32-foot ketch Suhaili and her 30-year-old skipper to a hero's welcome.

The mayor of Falmouth, civic officials and crowds of Britons gathered to honor the man who suffered incredible hardships for 311 solitary days at sea. A golden globe and possibly $12,000 in prize money awaited him.

Unshaven, dressed in rags and down to his last few cans of food, Knox-Johnston spent his last night afloat drifting 30 miles from home.

Officials said his last fear was that someone in a boat would touch the Suhaili or try to hand him a celebration drink before he docked, technically spoiling the single-handed aspect of his voyage.

Battered Condition

Despite his ragged garb and the battered condition of his rusty boat, Knox-Johnston looked fit and cheerful as he strode the deck Monday night, shouting to his three brothers in a circling press boat.

"I could use a beer," he yelled to well-wishers.

The captain of the Royal Navy warship Warsash lined up his crew to give Knox-Johnston, a reserve officer, three cheers. He also read a welcoming message from headquarters.

Storms on the 29,000-mile expedition smashed the Suhaili's rudder and broke her self-steering gear. Most of the fresh water supply was contaminated when the ketch capsized last September, and he had depended on rain water since then.

Sir Francis Chichester, who sailed around the globe alone in 1966 but made one stop, in Australia, said Knox-Johnston was lucky to have survived. He was one of the greeters waiting on shore.

"His boat is not very suitable for the job," said Chichester. "A bad storm could have bashed in the cabin."

Knox-Johnston set sail from Falmouth last June 14. His two-masted ketch was sighted two weeks ago 500 miles off the Azores after being given up for lost. Until then he had not been heard of since passing New Zealand in November, and an international air-sea search failed to find him.

First Prize

The Golden Globe trophy was the first prize offered by the Sunday Times newspaper that sponsored the nonstop round-the-world race. Knox-Johnston also is contesting for $12,000 offered for the fastest circumnavigation.

Behind him is Nigel Tetley, a retired naval lieutenant commander in a 40-foot trimaran, and Donald Crowhurst in a ketch.

The favorite to win the money is Tetley, who left Falmouth last September and is expected back at the end of May. Crowhurst sailed Oct. 31 and rounded Cape Horn a few days ago.

Orthopedist Designed Special Thomas Heel

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have man whose wife was "hysterical" at the prospect of a aged 56 and also slightly diabetic trouble. Just what is a cataract removal. "Thomas heel?" Where could you buy one? — Mrs. C. G.

It's a special heel for a shoe devised by an orthopedist, Dr. Thomas.

The heel extends forward on one side, and tends to throw weight bearing onto the opposite side of the foot. It may be on the outer or inner side of the shoe, depending on which way the foot needs to be shifted, but more usually it is along the inner edge.

There are different lengths used — four, I believe — so you don't just ask for a Thomas heel. You should ask for the one that fits your particular defect.

An orthopedist or podiatrist can prescribe the proper heel, and the prescription then can be taken to a shoemaker who can fit the proper heels. If you don't know where to get the heels corrected, the doctor can tell you.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is the cause of acute labyrinthitis? Can it be remedied or cured? — Mrs. E. L. M.

Infection is the principal cause; sometimes certain drugs or toxic compounds may be involved. It is one of the causes of vertigo and dizzy spells, and I recommend that you read my booklet, "Dizzy Spells," which you can obtain by sending 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Thosteson, care of The Post-Crescent.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Your

Vacancies Information Now Available for Teachers in State

Teachers may now obtain information about vacancies for the 1969-70 school year from Wisconsin State Employment Service offices, according to A. P. Engbreton, district manager-director for the WSES offices in Appleton and Neenah.

The teacher placement service division of the state agency will furnish local offices with current lists of vacancies by subject, grade or position on a monthly basis, he announced.

He said this additional local service makes statewide teacher vacancy information more readily available, but added that because of state limitations, telephone and mail inquiries cannot be handled.

Court Grants Two Divorces, Annulment

One annulment and two divorces were granted in Outagamie County Court Branch 1.

Margaret Steede, 19, 1127 W. Summer St., was granted an annulment from Robert D. Steede, 28, who is in a federal prison in Kansas. They were married Sept. 14, 1968, and had no children.

Harvey Mahn, 51, 402 Park Ave., Little Chute, was divorced by Eleanor Mahn, 47, route 6, Appleton, on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. They were married Feb. 28, 1943, and had five children, two of whom are still under 18 years old.

The court delayed a finding on alimony, support and division of property.

Arlene Koren, 36, Milwaukee, was divorced from Irvin Koren, 37, also of Milwaukee, on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. They were married March 28, 1954, and have two children.

Second Gasoline Theft Nets Readfield Man 30-Day Term in Jail

James McGowan, 22, route 1, Readfield, who last month was fined $50 and costs or 12 days in jail for stealing gasoline from a rural Black Creek man, Monday afternoon was sentenced to 30 days in jail on an identical charge.

Seymour police charged McGowan with stealing 17 gallons of gasoline from a Kuehne and Sons truck in Seymour on Sunday. McGowan had a funnel, hose and cans, the court was told. Nixon Plans More Basic Tax Changes

First Bill Designed to Fix 'Flaws'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration spokesmen told Congress today President Nixon's wide-ranging tax reform proposals are aimed at quickly repairing pressing flaws in the system and more basic changes are planned.

Of equal importance to immediate reform, Treasury Under Secretary Charles E. Walker told the House Ways and Means Committee, are "basic structural changes that go beyond reform" which, however, must be approached more slowly.

He noted in his prepared testimony that the President has ordered a cellar-to-attic review of every aspect of the tax system to point up the areas where simplification—a major goal—may be possible.

Walker and Edwin S. Cohen, assistant secretary of the Treasury for tax policy, repeatedly used terms such as "interim" and "first stage" to describe the lengthy list of changes Nixon outlined in the tax message he sent Monday to Capitol Hill.

Keep Confidence

"The most critical problems, which we believe should be dealt with promptly," Cohen said, "are first, maintaining confidence in the tax structure by curbing the excessive use of tax preferences by some wealthy taxpayers and second, removing the burden of the income tax from those who are below the poverty level."

Overall, Treasury officials said, revenue losses and gains will cancel each other out at roughly $4 billion each, though there should be a net increase in receipts after the first two years.

The big revenue-boosting items, they said, will be the repeal of the 7 per cent investment tax credit, tightening up on use of "tax preferences" by high-income taxpayers to shield much of their income from taxation, and correction of a lengthy list of abuses.

Revenue Lost

On the other side will be the revenue lost by cutting the present 10 per cent income tax surcharge to 5 per cent next Jan. 1, elimination of income taxes for single persons and families earning less than $3,500 a year, revenue-sharing with states and local governments and tax incentives to bring more businesses and privately run manpower training programs into poverty areas.

Some of the changes are designed to take effect immediately, others by stages, the Treasury officials said. Action on revenue-sharing and the tax incentives programs would not begin for at least a year, they said.

Once the program ending federal taxation of those below the $3,500 line is fully operative, they said, the cost will be $665 million a year.

Another revenue-loser, liberalizing income tax deductions for moving expenses, would carry a price tag of $10 million this year and $100 million a year thereafter.

The limit on deductions for charitable contributions, currently 30 per cent of income for all but a few taxpayers, would be raised to 50 per cent at an estimated cost of $1 billion a year.

Many upper income taxpayers would be hit by a limitation on the tax preferences generally used only by the affluent. Complete shielding of income from taxation would be ended in all but extremely rare cases, treasury officials say.

Life or Death for Sirhan

Final Arguments Are Given, Jury Back in Seclusion

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I beseech you," said the defense lawyer, "to spare Sirhan Sirhan's life—it would carry forth the brave spirit of Robert Kennedy's compassion."

"We have lavishly expended our resources for the sake of a cold-blooded political assassin," said the prosecutor, not once mentioning death. "Sirhan was entitled to the fair trial which he has received. He has no special claim to further preservation."

Those pleas first, then Judge Herbert V. Walker's instructions to conscientiously consider "whether this man should suffer the death penalty or shall be permitted to remain alive," set the Sirhan jury to its final task Monday.

After 2½ hours in the same room where they convicted Sirhan of first degree murder last week, the jurors adjourned for the night without a verdict in the penalty phase of the 15-week old trial. They have only two choices: life or death.

Grant B. Cooper, who delivered the impassioned final plea for the 25-year-old Jordanian Arab, walked out of the courtroom shaking his head in dejection.

"I don't like it. I don't like it," he said. "The longer they stay out, the more I sweat. I think if they were going to give him life, they would have come in this afternoon."

— "Hard Look"

John E. Howard, who spoke for the death penalty without direct reference to it, said "it's going to be closer than a hound's tooth. This jury is going to take a hard look." He would have worried, Howard said, about a quick verdict.

Sirhan, pale from 10 sunless months since the assassination June 5, appeared hollow-eyed and nervous as the case wound to its conclusion. He chewed gum, gnawed at his fingernails and drummed on the defense table.

His mother, stooped and gaunt, was the only witness in the penalty phase. She was asked a single question: Had Sirhan ever been in trouble before the assassination?

"He has never been," she said, her soft, accented voice quavering. "And that is not from me or from him, that is because I raised him on the law of God and His love."

Howard told the jury Sirhan "reached this shore at the indulgence of a nation which takes pride in providing refuge to the oppressed... a new society which offered greater opportunity for the individual to achieve success within the limits of his

Administration Has Two Reasons To Repeal Investment Incentive

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's announcement Monday that he favors repeal of the investment tax credit marked a complete flipflop from the administration's policy of just a week ago.

One after another, top administration officials who met with AFL-CIO leaders in White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., last week recited to newsmen the reasons why the credit should not be repealed.

The labor chiefs disagreed. So did Democratic leaders in Congress. They charged that the tax credit, created in 1962 as a stimulus to business investment, was stoking the furnace of inflation.

Until the past weekend, when it became clear that President Nixon's advisers were having a rush of second thoughts, the official replies were always the same.

—The credit, which lets a businessman chop from his tax bill 7 per cent of his outlays for new machinery and equipment, is a long-term inducement to investment and growth. In more years than not it will be needed as a job-creating stimulant.

—Its repeal would be equivalent to a $3 billion tax increase. On top of existing anti-inflation restraints, it would provide too much squeeze, might cause a recession.

—A repeal would disrupt industry's investment planning; it's not fair to change the tax rules in the middle of the game. And it would be an administrative nightmare for the Treasury.

All those arguments could be heard from the secretary of the treasury, the budget director, the chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers—even from economist Arthur F. Burns, counselor to the President, when he talked to newsmen just one week ago.

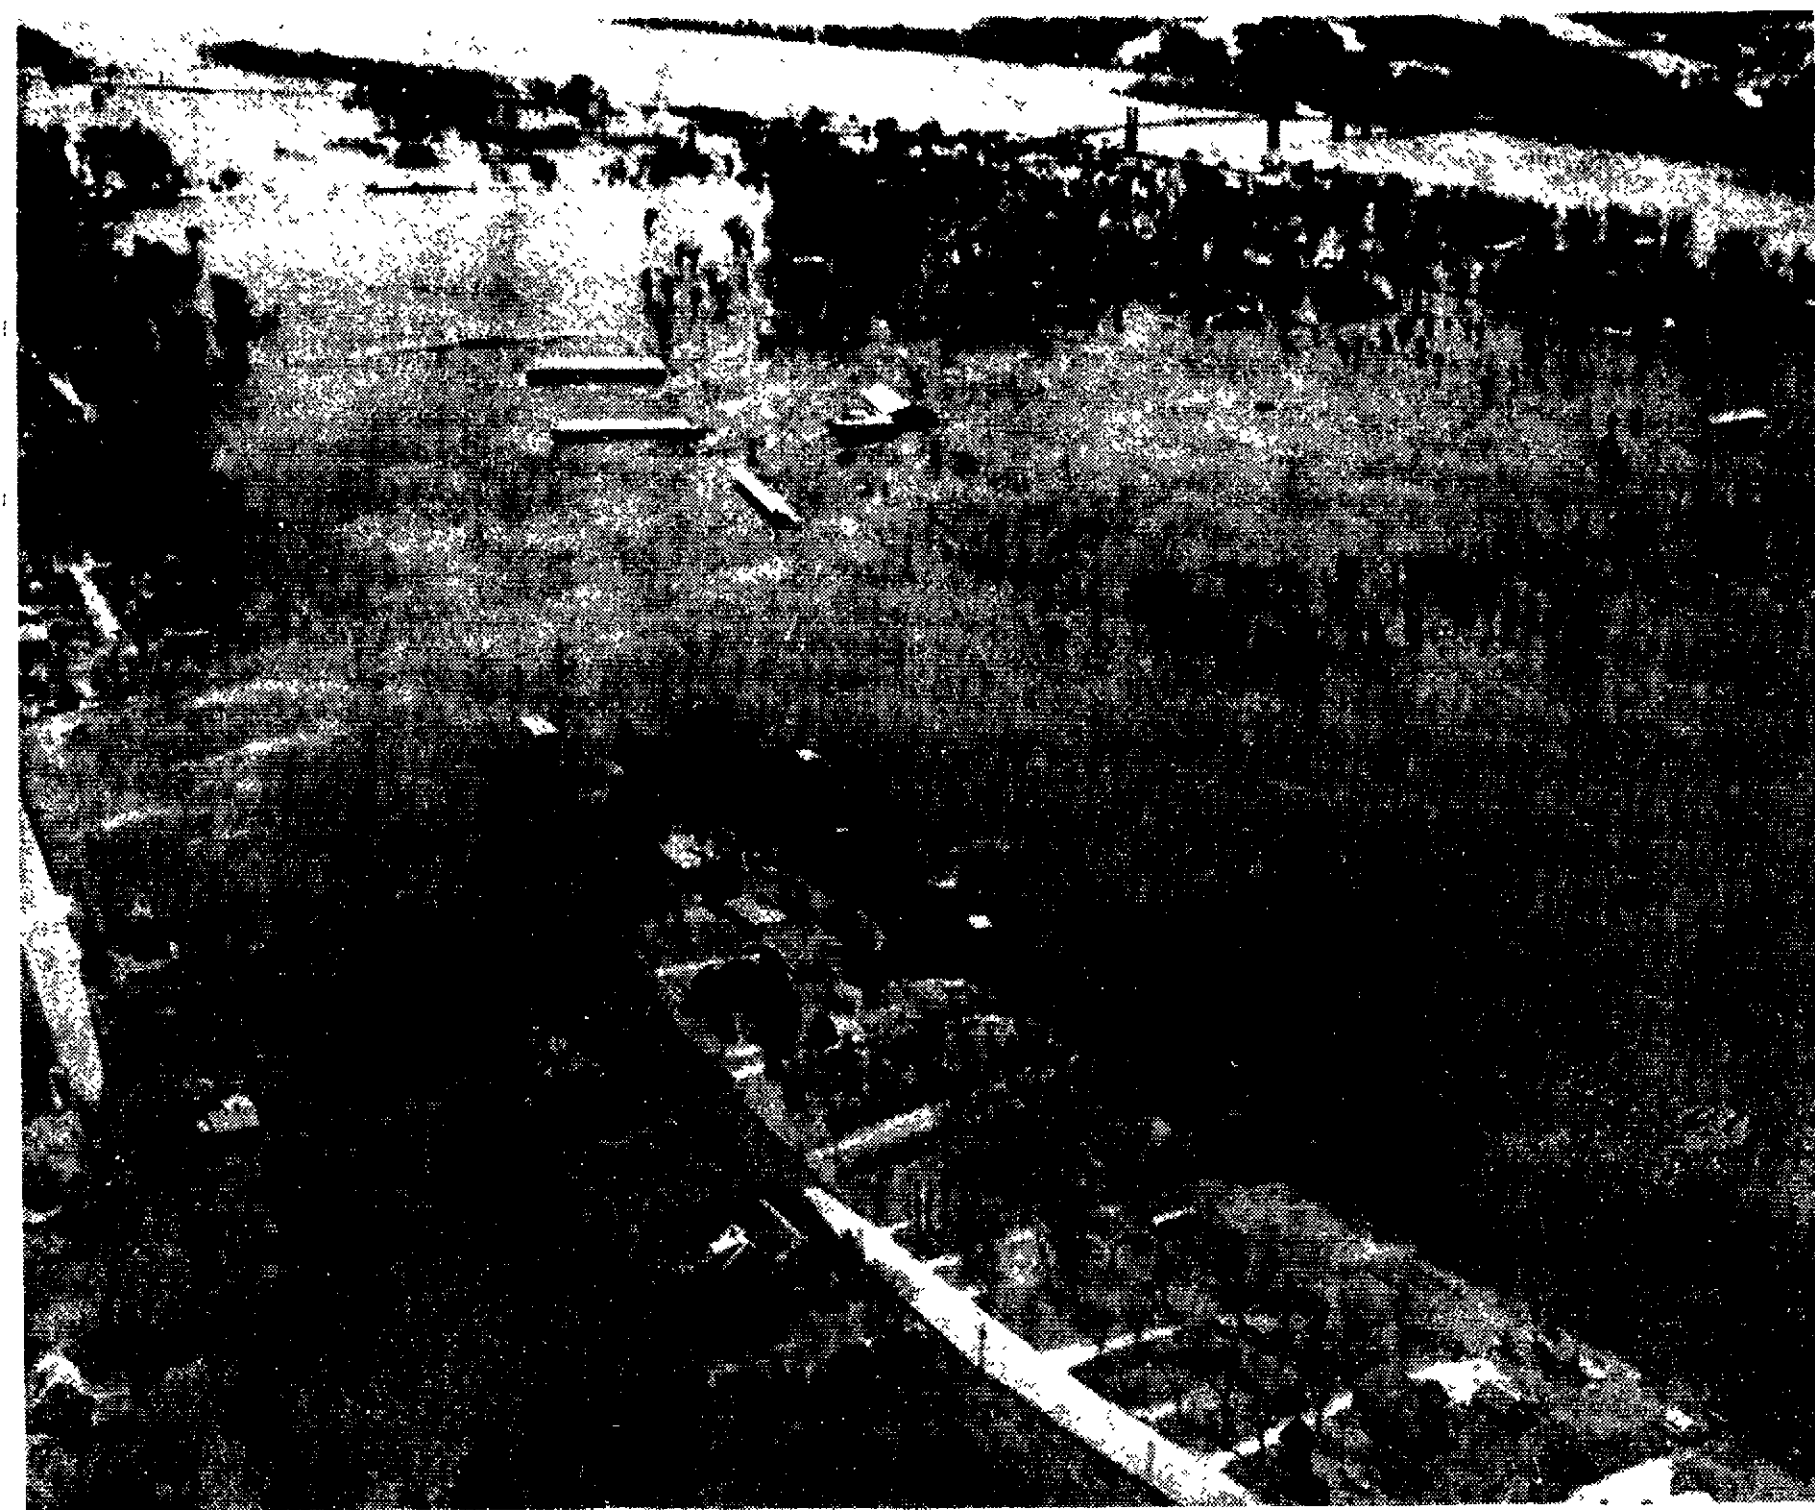

So what changed things?

'Prepared to Negotiate Seriously'

U.S. Feels Hanoi Now Ready to Talk

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has committed itself to a double track program for gradually reducing the U.S. combat role in Vietnam even if the Paris peace talks fail.

Administration leaders are trying to tell North Vietnam and the Viet Cong, however, that if they want to get United States forces out of South Vietnam quickly and completely they will have to make a negotiated settlement.

The prevailing belief in official quarters here is that thousands of troops will be brought home this year.

The broad elements of the program were sketched out officially for the first time Monday by Secretary of State William P. Rogers in an address to the Associated Press in New York.

Rogers declared that the Nixon administration hopefully assumes "that the other side is now prepared to negotiate seriously for an end to the war."

"We have not, however, placed all our eggs in one basket," he said.

"We have to be prepared for the unwelcome contingency that the other side does not yet want to negotiate a peaceful settlement. We are not prepared to assume that the only alternative to early progress in the peace talks is an indefinite extension of our present role."

Larger Burden

"That is why such high priority is being given to preparing South Vietnamese forces to assume a growing share of the combat burden and why the government of South Vietnam is giving such high priority to developing the political unity of the country."

"These efforts are well underway. They will be carried out systematically and urgently."

At the same time Rogers

made two points which appeared to be directed to the Communist side in the conflict as well, perhaps, as to critics of U.S. war policy in this country.

He said the United States "is committed to achieving a peace in Vietnam which will permit the people of South Vietnam to determine their own future, free from outside interference by anyone."

"That is our objective... it is not subject to change."

He also said that progress toward peace "can be accelerated significantly if the other side is prepared to get down to practical negotiations on mutual force withdrawals in the near future."

Rogers declared the issue now in Paris is "whether peace comes more gradually or more rapidly to Vietnam."

His summary of the situation appeared to confirm reports here and in Paris that the administration has not yet set up the secret negotiations President Nixon has said are needed to negotiate an end to the war.

In indicating the alternative to a negotiated settlement Rogers went beyond the position outlined in much broader terms by Nixon earlier.

'We've Got No Slack'

Task Force off N. Korea Hurting U.S. War Effort

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vietnam naval air operations are siphoning other warships of the 7th Fleet stretched to the limit with deployment of a 23-ship task force to protect U.S. reconnaissance missions off North Korea.

"We've got no slack," a Navy officer commented after the Pentagon Monday announced assignment of an armada to the Sea of Japan where a Navy plane was shot down by North Korea last week.

One aircraft carrier and possibly other warships of the 7th Fleet have been pulled from the war effort to form a new Task Force 71 deploying somewhere off North Korea.

Cut by Third

Officers said this means the Navy contribution to the U.S. bombing campaign in South Vietnam and Laos will be cut by roughly one-third. The United States has been keeping three aircraft carriers on the firing line in the Gulf of Tonkin, for the time being this will be reduced to two.

The 7th Fleet's remaining four aircraft carriers are going into Task Force 71 along with three cruisers and 16 destroyers.

Thus, officers pointed out, all 7th Fleet carriers are now tied down on two fronts—the Sea of Japan and the Gulf of Tonkin. And officers described the 16 destroyers as a major share of the Seventh's heavy combat vessels.

How long the fleet can maintain both assignments under present conditions is a matter of concern to the Navy. With its six flattops occupied, the 7th Fleet has no replacement flexibility.

Officers said that if the task force has to remain in the Sea

Killed in Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army listed two Wisconsin servicemen Monday among soldiers killed in Vietnam.

They were Sgt. Anthony G. Markewitch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Markewitch Sr. of Onalaska, and Sgt. Larry A. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Smith of Fort Atkinson.

Changes in Federal Law

Beyond that, the court, in an opinion by Justice William J. Brennan Jr., warned that the Fourth Amendment applies to police investigations.

He said police are not free to seize suspects without probable cause for arrest and subject them "to the harassment, indignity incident to involuntary detention."

Brennan added: "Nothing is more clear than the Fourth Amendment was meant to prevent wholesale intrusions upon the personal security of our citizenry, whether these intrusions be termed 'arrests' or 'investigatory detentions.'"

ly in mid-1970, you would save another $25.

In special circumstances you might save more.

Say you are a heavy contributor to charities. Present law allows you to deduct your donations only up to 30 per cent of your income. The administration proposes to raise the limit to 56 per cent.

Or suppose you move from one city to another to take a better job. You may, depending on the circumstances, get a better break in deducting your moving expenses.

The tax package includes a liberalization of the rules, especially for new employees and for old employees not reimbursed by the employer for cost of the shift.

In general, the effect of the proposed changes would be felt most at the two ends of the income scale.

Those living in poverty or not much above the line would get a definite break. For example, a family of four would pay no tax on income up to $3,500 and reduced tax on any income up to $4,500.

Many upper income taxpayers would be hit by a limitation on the tax preferences generally used only by the affluent. Complete shielding of income from taxation would be ended in all but extremely rare cases, treasury officials say.

Co-op Short of Enthusiasm for Milk Merger

No Action Taken at Fond du Lac Meeting To Organize District

FOND DU LAC (AP) — Efforts to organize an exclusively Wisconsin district in a new Canada-to-Texas dairy cooperative have run into a shortage of enthusiasm.

Ten Wisconsin cooperatives, of which five would be in the district, held what was to have been an organization meeting Monday, but no action was taken.

Of the five cooperatives which might be enrolled in the Wisconsin district, three said they were attending the meeting simply as observers.

Cooperative Size

Officials have said the proposed interstate cooperative could represent 10 per cent of the nation's dairy output, and could serve to guarantee farmers a better price-bargaining position at the market.

But many Wisconsin cooperatives have been reluctant to join, listing two reasons in particular: 1, they might not be guaranteed the traditional security of Chicago-area prices and 2, they could lose their independence in market negotiations.

Proponents of the massive cooperatives told Badger State cooperatives at meetings earlier this year they might be able to dominate policy because of their large potential membership.

The idea of a private district for Wisconsin was designed to assure Wisconsin cooperatives of some degree of individuality.

Doubts Remain

Nevertheless, cooperatives remained reluctant Monday, indicating the new cooperative might raise barriers against milk exports from Wisconsin.

Southern producers "don't want to see Wisconsin get access to new fluid milk markets," said William Eckles, manager of Pure Milk Products Co-op of Fond du Lac, the largest dairy bargaining group in the state.

The proposed interstate cooperative, American Milk Producers Inc., has scheduled a meeting of its steering committee today in Chicago.

Knowles Names District Attorney For Sheboygan

SHEBOYGAN (AP) — Gov. Warren P. Knowles announced Monday the appointment of 25-year-old Lance Jones of Kohler as Sheboygan County district attorney.

Jones will succeed Dist. Atty. William Sonnenberg, who resigned effective May 1 to become a partner in a Sheboygan law firm.

Sonnenberg, a Democrat, defeated Jones in the November election. The young Republican, presently serving as an assistant Sheboygan city attorney, will fill out Sonnenberg's term which expires in January, 1971.

Jones was graduated from the University of Wisconsin law school in 1968.

Fox Valley Leaders Urged To Back Kellett Task Force

Governor Seeks Industry's Aid In Study of Educational Costs

NEENAH — Gov. Warren P. Knowles urged Fox Valley business and community leaders Monday to lend support to the new William R. Kellett task force, which will study education's operating efficiency in Wisconsin.

Knowles told persons gathered at the Kimberly-Clark Corp. marketing center that money is not the answer to demands for better educational facilities. He said that there are a variety of basic policy questions which could significantly affect the future of education in Wisconsin. He suggested the business community could contribute its knowledge of operating efficiency to this education study.

The meeting was one of a series of five set up by Kellett after Knowles asked him in February to conduct the analysis of whether the Wisconsin taxpayer is getting his money's worth in educational costs.

Relevant to Business Businessmen are being told of the relevance of this study and being asked to commit manpower to the study team. Kellett has indicated he hopes to have major portions of the study completed by the end of the year. Knowles termed Kellett's task a "tremendous undertaking."

"But if it can be done at all, Bill Kellett can do it," he said. "But he needs help — your help."

He noted the Kellett reorganization of state government was significant, but called the examination of all aspects of education the biggest challenge of all. Knowles pointed out that educational costs have more than tripled in 10 years, not only because of the population explosion, but because of "the increasingly recognized importance of education and the widespread desire for greater educational opportunity."

Wisconsin has responded to date, he said, but the tax sources no longer can continue to support them.

May Need Changes He refuted the popular assumption that money automatically produces education and said that there may be a need to change some basic policies of education in the state.

In this area, the business and professional community can contribute, he indicated, citing an example of the use of modern technology. "In the free enterprise system, it is essential that industries take advantage of technological advances so that your businesses remain competitive, so that your personnel are productive, and your product is marketable and profitable," he said.

"The question, then, is whether our educational systems are taking full advantage of technology that we know exists," he asked, noting teaching machines, computers and electronic communications. He asked whether these devices could improve the efficiency of Wisconsin education.

Knowles reminded business leaders that they are personally and professionally involved in the question which the task force is analyzing. In this society, educational level relates to the quality of life, he said.

"Your business interests will prosper or deteriorate, depending upon the level of knowledge and skill of your employees in the years ahead," he added. He noted that local taxes support Wisconsin education, and "I think you'd like to feel sure that you are getting a good return on your investment."

This is what is being sought, he added. "We want to create the conditions under which education can function to the full extent of its potential," he said. "We want to assure that the funds invested in education are used to their maximum effect," he added.

Knowles said that while Wisconsin ranks 16th in size and 11th in the number of college students and funds spent on public education, it ranks third in its per capita support of higher education.

Hilbert, Stockbridge Voters Oppose Merging Schools

Electors in Hilbert Proceed To Give Advisory Approval To Construction of New High

STOCKBRIDGE — Electors rejected a possible merger of Hilbert and Stockbridge school districts in separate meetings in property 210 to 60 over the both districts in an advisory vote Monday night.

Stockbridge electors opposed the merger 65 to 43. In Hilbert, where a record crowd turned out, the measure was defeated 194 to 139, for a 60 to 40 per cent figure in both districts.

Hilbert electors, following the merger ballot, were asked to vote on a choice of two sites for a new high school, and in another ballot to give the board of education authority to go ahead with plans for the new facility.

Voters cast 236 votes for building a new high school, compared to 91 against and favored the Robert. Koehler districts in separate meetings in property 210 to 60 over the both districts in an advisory vote Monday night.

Option on Property The Koehler property is just west of the present school and the district has an option on 60 acres at $450 an acre. Most of the land is in the Town of Woodville necessitating sewage and water extensions from the village.

School officials pointed out that the balloting was only advisory and a referendum would be necessary regarding financing the project.

Before the merger votes, information prepared in a study by the State Department of Public Instruction at the request of both districts was repeated to electors. Site of the merged district high school was to be the Roland Gruber 30 acre parcel along State 114, 3 1/2 miles west of Hilbert.

Seeking Advice Both boards emphasized that they were neither condoning nor condemning consolidation but were seeking the advice of the electors in their districts.

However, a spokesman for the Hilbert faculty said teachers there were in favor of merging. Stockbridge opposition centered on having to support a new high school which they didn't need now and to pay for three facilities compared to one now and joining a district which would still be too small to gain state approval. They also noted recent curriculum improvements and said they believed that 'home rule' was best.

Arguments for the merger were better educational opportunities, particularly on the vocational level; teachers teaching in major fields; the possibility of encouraging Sherwood area to seek attachment and the possibility of a building program alone if grades are dropped at St. Mary Catholic School. Continual 'nibbling' away of territory through detachment orders making the district eventually financially unable to operate was the concern of some.

Rural Area Several expressed disapproval of building in a rural area where the school would have to turn to Page 5, Col. 7

Nuclear Power Is Shrine Topic

Uses, Operation of Point Beach Plant Will be Described

Nuclear power and its eventual use in the Fox Cities region will be explained to more than 250 persons expected to attend an Appleton Shrine Club dinner meeting at the Embassy Lodge April 23.

The speaker will be Daniel C. Sullivan, Milwaukee, supervisor of information for the Wisconsin Electric Power Co.

Shrine Club officials indicated there is considerable interest in the nuclear power projects underway in Manitowoc County and wanted to hear firsthand what to expect from the multi-million dollar facility in the future.

Sullivan will talk about the commercial nuclear power industry as it exists in the country today, and will also look into the future.

He will explain how the Point Beach Nuclear plant is being constructed in the Town of Two Creeks, seven miles north of Two Rivers, which is to be in operation in 1970.

Because the plant is being constructed for the Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co., headquartered in Appleton, it has created considerable interest.

Did Not Register Negro Woman Not Dropped at OSU

OSHKOSH — Oshkosh State University officials Monday denied that a Negro woman was dropped from its graduate school because of color and, in the graduate school for the fact, her records show she is in summer session on probation.

She took two courses and received good grades and was then given full admittance to the graduate school, officials said.

However, they added, she never applied for admission last September.

She claimed she left OSU last Aug. 2, after having been there five weeks, when she was told, "We can't have your kind here."

OSU Graduate School officials said today that if anyone wanted to see them, Mrs. Brown's records would indicate she was in good standing with the school.

They reported that when she applied for admission to the graduate school she did not have a transcript of her undergraduate record and she was admitted on a temporary basis. When the records arrived they showed two unsatisfactory grades, school officials said.

They added that Mrs. Brown

'Good Outweighs Bad' in Appleton ABC Program

Inadvertently the words "good" and "bad" were transposed in a headline in Sunday's Post-Crescent over a story about Appleton's "A Better Chance" (ABC) program.

At the end of the story, one of the ABC youths was quoted as saying "the good in the program outweighs the bad."

The headline over the continuation of the story on page D-3 erroneously transposed the two words and said the bad outweighs the good.

Batons Flash in Stockbridge Twirlers Twinkle at Starlite Time

STOCKBRIDGE — Every Monday evening is Starlite time here. That's when about 50 girls from four years old through high school age practice baton twirling at the public school. It's nothing new to them, they've been doing it for five years.

But this year something new has been added. Starlite time will continue through the summer.

In 1964, the Chamber of Commerce was approached about sponsoring a dance and twirling group in the village. Lessons were given by Sonia Johnson, Appleton, and Mrs. David Nagan, Kaukauna. About 50 girls participated.

Later the tap dancing was dropped and the emphasis was on baton twirling. The name Stockbridge Starlites was selected by contest.

The girls were outfitted with uniforms, and, after gaining some experience, participated in all major parades in the Fox Valley area, promoting the east shore fishing village.

Starlite membership is not limited to village lassies however. Many of the pupils are from rural area as well as from Brothertown and Clinton. This year four boys have joined the group.

At present Mary Dorschner, Menasha, is the instructor. She teaches five groups, according to experience, from 5:30 to 8 p.m. every Monday. Miss Dorschner said that one of the classes will be participating in twirling contests this summer for the first time as well as taking part in at least 10 parades.

Mrs. John Karls and Mrs. Janet Ecker serve as volunteer chaperones for the children and are among the groups most avid admirers.

Every spring, a Starlite Revue is staged at the high school. The performance provides an opportunity for the twirlers to present their talents, without charge to their sponsors and community.

This year's event will be on May 17. New costumes are being made, but the original Starlite peacock blue and white outfits will also be worn. New ones include a "fleet in" look; "pow wow," an Indian costume and "top billing." Kristi Ann Karls will perform in a solo. Kristi has been the leader of most of the parades, even as a pre-schooler.

Brooks Convicted of Having Marijuana

Appleton Youth Innocent on Second Count; Sentencing May 6

Sentencing has been set for May 6 for David A. Brooks, 19, who Monday night was found guilty of one narcotics charge and innocent of another.

An Outagamie County Court jury of seven men and five women deliberated about 3½ hours before returning the verdicts at 8:30 p.m. Brooks was ordered held in jail without bond until sentencing.

The jury found Brooks, of 118½ W. Atlantic St., guilty of possessing marijuana in a Kaukauna park on Feb. 28, and innocent of possessing and selling marijuana in Appleton on Oct. 30.

Appleton detectives brought Brooks after an informant notified the district attorney's office that the youth had hidden a paper sack of marijuana under a rock in Bayougeon Recreation Area in Kaukauna.

Removed Packet

Two detectives testified Monday that they staked out the park and observed Brooks retrieve the marijuana from its hiding place the morning of Feb. 28. He has been in jail under $1,500 bond since that time.

The Oct. 30 charge was brought by two young police informants who said they paid Brooks $15 for an ounce of marijuana at his apartment.

One of the informants testified Monday that they smoked some of the marijuana. He said that while being questioned at the police department on Nov. 17, he took the remainder of the same marijuana from his coat pocket and hid it above a towel dispensing machine in a department rest room.

A detective testified that the informant showed him the hidden marijuana on Feb. 9.

Brooks was the only defense witness called by his court-appointed attorney and his testimony concerned only the Feb. 28 charge.

Brooks told the court he and an Appleton youth who later turned him in to authorities drove to Menasha the night of Feb. 27 to get the marijuana which Brooks admitted he later hid under the rock in the Kaukauna Park.

Brooks testified they got the marijuana (about 12 ounces) from a Menasha area person whom he said he knew only as "Shadow." He said the Appleton youth then drove him to Kaukauna where he hid the material.

Drove to Kaukauna

The informant, according to testimony, returned to Brooks' apartment the morning of Feb. 28 with two other youths, one of whom Brooks said wanted to buy the marijuana. Brooks and the three youths then drove to Kaukauna in the informant's car. That is when detectives nabbed Brooks.

Under cross-examination by R. Thomas Cane, assistant district attorney, Brooks admitted that the 12 ounces of marijuana was his, that he "was considering" selling the marijuana, that he had sold marijuana in the past, that he bought the 12 ounces of marijuana three weeks before Feb. 28, and that he did not know the Appleton youth was an informant.

Defense attorney Dennis Wydeven, in his closing arguments to the jury, criticized prosecution through the use of informants. He termed their use "a difficult point of law." He questioned letting one or more persons go free on the premise that it "helps justice."

Rezoning Plea Turned Down By Commission

Residents Enter Strong Protest to Service Station Plan

A request for rezoning to allow construction of a new service station in the 13th Ward was struck down Monday by the Appleton Plan Commission.

The McClone Real Estate Corp. had petitioned to have property at the corner of Telulah Avenue and Calumet Street changed from local family zoning to commercial.

Attorney Abraham Sigman, representing the petitioner, said the Cities Service Oil Co. had plans to construct an elaborate and well-landscaped facility.

However, City Planner Jack Hetu recommended against the rezoning and several residents in the area filed a protest against the McClone Corp. request, charging the developer with "acting in bad faith."

Strongly Opposed

Ald. Glenn Thompson (13th) was strongly opposed to rezoning, which he said, would allow a filling station in an all residential neighborhood.

The commission, after hearing arguments, was unanimous in recommending the city council deny the rezoning.

Thompson said it was the third time residents of the area had to appear before the commission to object to rezoning requests.

Sigman and his client, Ray McClone, told the commission a local station was a necessity and would serve a good purpose in the 13th Ward.

Good Planning

"Such a fine operation falls within the guidelines of good planning," Sigman said. He indicated the proposed new facility would add to the neighborhood.

Sigman said McClone had additional undeveloped property in the area and would do nothing to jeopardize it or the area.

Thompson said he and his constituents had no objections to modern service stations but insisted they be located in areas already zoned for commercial use—not to carve into residential developments to provide for them.

Sign Petition

McClone said he talked to some of the people for which he had built homes in the area and they had not objected to the proposed service station. However, Thompson said those same people signed the petition opposing the rezoning.

Some homeowners said McClone told them the area would always remain residential in character. They alleged he had the area built up and then sold the corner property for a filling station. They claimed he had not kept his word to those who had purchased property and homes there.

This was denied by McClone. Another rezoning request—this one by Jerome Grest for rezoning of a lot in Gillett

Causeway's Not to Blame for Pollution

Contrary to the objections raised by the opponents to the U.S. 41 causeway across Lake Butte des Morts, the bridge has caused very little disruptive sedimentation on the lake.

A study recently undertaken by James W. McKee, Oshkosh State University (OSU) geology professor who heads the university's newly-created limnology laboratory, indicated the predicted sedimentation did not occur.

Creation of the laboratory was encouraged by McKee and an associate, Thomas Laudon, to augment the apparent lack of knowledge about area waterways.

Data on Lake Butte des Morts was gathered in a report compiled this past year and includes information on the effects of waves on sedimentation. The report points out, "If, as we suspect, waves are the deciding factor in bottom erosion, then breakwaters to reduce fetch would permit sedimentation to occur." The continuing study intends to probe this critical area to discover the determining factors in what causes lake fill-in.

McKee pointed out that the limnology laboratory is designed for a community-oriented research program.

The study on Lake Butte des Morts is just one program to bring a closer coordination between what is taught and what people can actually use. "There's quite a gap between what we teach and what people ought to really know," he said.

Wayne Truax, area game management director for the State Division of Conservation, called the laboratory "a tremendous thing."

A budget asking for $10,000 to $12,000 has been submitted to fund three studies during fiscal 1970. The studies are pointed to filling in information gaps on area waterways.

McKee plans to conduct a study on the post-glacial history of Lake Butte des Morts. Samuel S. Harrison, OSU assistant geology professor, will probe the effect of waves on lake depth and sediment distribution. This study is expected to have an influence on lake jettty construction.

The third study, planned by Leonard L. Tews, OSU biology professor, on micro fungi, could unlock more doors to better lakes management and provide data on pollution control.

Voters Oppose Consolidation Of Schools be equipped with its own sewage and water facilities.

Feelings expressed at Hilbert were that eventually the Hilbert district would get some of Stockbridge territory, whether consolidated or not and its debts would then be divided with the Chilton; building a high school independently of Stockbridge would not cost as much, as it need not be as large. The State Department of Public Instruction does not favor a merger of the two districts, electors said.

Transportation would be difficult, the district administrator said, however, according to the state report the compact district of 7 square miles was not expected to cause any problems. One elector pointed out that the board had not foreseen any difficulties in providing another bus for parochial pupils to be transported back and forth between St. John and Sherwood, in a consolidated parochial set-up, and said that matter shouldn't be a problem now.

Sewerage Facilities

Provision of adequate sewerage facilities, for the new high school, which had been an issue at a previous meeting when electors voted down the Koehler site, approved at Monday's meeting, was again discussed.

Trustee Clarence Hemauer said the additional facilities would have to be provided, whether or not a new school was built, in, or near the village. The plant was built for 1,500 persons, village President Orville Manz declared, however, he said that because of the new state standards, this is inadequate. According to the Department of Natural Resources report, the plant is adequate for 800 persons which is about the present population of the village.

Band 'Superior' At New London

NEW LONDON — Superior ratings were earned by both the senior high school band and chorus at competition Saturday at Shawano.

Other schools at the event were Clintonville, Kimberly and Shawano.

Don Griebenow, band director, said an exchange concert has been scheduled in May with St. Francis High School, Milwaukee.

The St. Francis band will perform here May 8 and stay overnight in homes of New London band members. The Chilton; building a high school independently of Stockbridge would not cost as much, as it need not be as large. The State Department of Public Instruction does not favor a merger of the two districts, electors said.

Recognition Planned For Confirmation Class At Clintonville Parish

CLINTONVILLE — A special recognition evening is planned for the 1969 confirmation class state report the compact district of 7 square miles was not expected to cause any problems. One elector pointed out that the board had not foreseen any difficulties in providing another bus for parochial pupils to be transported back and forth between St. John and Sherwood, in a consolidated parochial set-up, and said that matter shouldn't be a problem now.

The event is being planned by Branch 496, Aid Association for Lutherans; the St. Martin Ladies' Auxiliary, and the Walther League.

Parents of the class members and prospective Walther League members and parents are also invited.

A skit will be presented by Walther League members and students from Concordia College, Milwaukee, will perform. The AAL branch will present a gift to each confirmation class member attending the party.

National Library Week

The National Library Week Program, sponsored by the National Book Committee in cooperation with the American Library Association, is now in its twelfth year. National Library Week will be observed from April 20-26.

The program here in Wisconsin, sponsored by the Wisconsin Library Association, and under the chairmanship of Supreme Court Chief Justice E. Harold Hallows, provides a framework for citizen action to raise the standards of literacy through the development of lifetime reading habits and the total reading resources of the community.

As it has in the past, National Library Week focuses on the critical necessity of improving the nation's reading skills and providing the kinds of library services that can help solve our social and economic problems.

National Library Week calls attention to all categories of libraries — college, public, school and special. All have a special service area and contribution to make.

Chief Justice Hallows has called upon community leaders to "dramatize the importance of the library as a democratic institution by providing free access to adequate information for all." Awareness of the population explosion, of scientific technology and of the advancement of the brotherhood of man are creating relentless demands upon our libraries.

This year the NLW Program continues with the popular theme, "Be all you can be. Read." It is the responsibility of us all to give this slogan, our libraries and the program our fullest support.

Privacy Versus Pornography

The latest decision on obscenity made by the United States Supreme Court is not so much an attempt to define what is pornography but a defense of the old saw that a man's home is his castle. It is also gently pointing to the fact that legislation in the matter of sex and adults is a difficult area and almost impossible one to police.

The case dealt with an Atlanta, Georgia, man who had been convicted of violating the law because he had in his possession in his own apartment some so-called stag films. In overturning his conviction, the court's opinion, written by Justice Thurgood Marshall, said that "if the First Amendment means anything, it means that the state has no business telling a man, sitting alone in his own house, what books he may read or what films he may watch." Even if the film would stimulate him to go out and commit rape, as the state had argued, it does not justify the invasion of privacy.

Our Puritan heritage has given us a whole slew of laws outlawing all kinds of sexual behavior. Obviously, enforcing what goes on in the bedroom of a married couple is impossible and should be. But in today's more casual modes of living, the assertion by legal authorities that being found in a bedroom together constitutes cohabitation is not only nonsense — it is widely ignored. And it is still used in some states as contrived evidence for divorce when only adultery can be the legal grounds.

The relaxation against some modes of behavior, such as homosexual activity between consenting adults, has now made such perverted acts legal in some states while what one might call the more natural sexual activities involving fornication and adultery are illegal. The latter laws are aimed at trying to preserve the sanctity of marriage and the home. But laws that are impossible of enforcement or to which enforcement officials turn their backs are a travesty, not only upon the home but the law as well.

Legislation in the field of morality is difficult. There is doubt that there should be any at all at least as far as consenting adults in private are concerned.

Again, Mr. Agnew?

President Nixon probably was just getting accustomed to the idea that perhaps his vice president wasn't so bad after all. But that was before the past week, when Spiro Agnew again put a foot or two in his mouth during a speech to Republican women.

The vice president, it seems, called Dwight Eisenhower's warning against a military-industrial complex a "preposterous" notion. "It is preposterous to say there is such a thing in America," Agnew said, adding that he personally knew the nation's industrial and defense leaders. "They are just as loyal and dedicated to peace and freedom in America as any one of us in the Congress," Agnew added.

Not satisfied to dispute a former Republican chief executive, Agnew proceeded to chide a perhaps future Democratic one—Sen. Edward Kennedy.

"Joan Kennedy has occasionally been setting the table with red china. Now Teddy seems to be getting the same idea," he said. The 4,500 Republican women didn't laugh — they gasped — so the vice president of the United States turned to a more serious topic.

Perhaps, Mr. Vice President, you should submit your shows to censors or else go the way of the Smothers Brothers.

Looking Backward

Crescent Editor Taken to Task

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for April 7, 1869.

Editor, Crescent. In your issue of last week an article referring to "that state road" was published, in which it is stated that by some "oversight" the Swamp Land road running north-easterly through the Town of Seymour was vacated by the operation of the law in question.

Now permit me to say in reply that the road mentioned was vacated by no mistake nor oversight.

The law in question was the result of deliberate action, and does just what it was intended to do in accordance with the wishes of nine-tenths of the settlers in the Town of Seymour, for it vacated an entirely useless and unnecessary road. I say this without the slightest fear of contradiction.

"The road in question was opened for winter trade some two years since and for a time was used by settlers in obtaining lumber and shingles from the mills on the military road, but that necessity has ceased to exist and the road has fallen into entire disuse, not a team having passed over it once during the winter just closed."

25 YEARS AGO
Tuesday, April 18, 1944

Katherine Tubbs was installed president of the Woodland Hustlers 4-H Club at Woodland School. Other new officers were Robert Bachler, vice president, Louis Mueller, secretary, and Pearl Ploeger, reporter.

Representing Kimberly High School at the state forensic meet in Madison that week were Bertha Vanden Houvel and Theresa Van Lieshout.

Kenneth Jeffers won first place in the sophomore Class B ping-pong tournament at Washington High School, New London. Runners-up were Don Fuerst, second, and Clifford Larson, third.

10 YEARS AGO
Tuesday, April 21, 1959.
Dr. Charles H. Malik, president of the United Nations General Assembly, was in Appleton the previous day as the first speaker in the America and World Community program co-sponsored by Lawrence University and The Post-Crescent Dr. Malik, from Lebanon, spoke to an overflow crowd at Memorial Chapel on world tensions and crises.

Mrs. Homer Malmstrom, Appleton, was nominated for the office of second vice president in the Wisconsin chapter of the American Association of University women. Chosen delegates to the state meeting from Appleton AAUW were Mrs. Thomas Dietrich, Mrs. B. L. Browning, Mrs. Edward Hjost, Mrs. Ralph Grobe, Mrs. Fred Allen, Mrs. T. A. Howells, Mrs. William Arnold, Mrs. Robert Beebe, Mrs. Archie Johnson, Mrs. E. O. Dillingham and Miss Marcella Thompson.

No Real Man Would Play Game of War

Editor, The Post-Crescent
In reply to a recent letter by a Mr. Norman R. Underwood.

By what criteria do we determine manhood? I don't think silent compliance to your "very simple" solution — two years of compulsory service at 18 — will miraculously transform a boy into a man nor will it solve any of the very complex problems that this world faces. While the state is creating its patriotic automotons, public officials will continue to debate the idea that peace may some day be financially feasible.

If your world was as mature as you seem to think, you would not be continually involved in games of greed and war. A man would not bother with such trivia. A man values life.

But what does our government value? A soldier is rewarded. There are decorations for killing and decorations for getting wounded. And if he dies, his wife or parents get a medal.

A draft dodger or deserter refuses to comply whether for moral reasons or the simple fact that he doesn't want to die. He is branded a traitor, fined or imprisoned or he can "leave the country if he doesn't like it here," to borrow a phrase from right wing jargon.

It is obvious where value,

As long as you of the "mature world" remain in control, we can probably expect this value system to remain. Peace will benefit all, but we can't hope for that. We can expect instead a settlement that benefits American interests — unless men stand up and say no.

Girl Thanks 'My Town' for Pageant Help

Editor, Post-Crescent

I am writing this letter in hopes that all the wonderful people who wished me well in the Miss Appleton Pageant will read it and accept my most humble and inadequate "Thank you."

I couldn't begin to thank everyone individually for the roses, champagne, gifts, and telephone calls received before and after the pageant.

Thanks equally to the Red Owl Stores, my sponsor, my chaperone, Ginger Roehon, to my very dear friends in Appleton, and above all — Thank you, Kimberly — My Town. It's a treasured memory that will stay with me always. Forever grateful.

'I Said Dig Deeper!'

A Word Edgewise

Kennedy Is Front-Runner at Present But Many Hurdles Are Ahead

BY JOHN P. ROCHE

Senator Edward Kennedy's remarkable success in moving into first place for the 1972 Democratic sweepstakes has created a number of problems. First, the Republicans have clearly set him up as their prime target, and Ed Dirksen, while lovable in many respects, is a mean darts player. When three G. O. P. Senators pulled out of Kennedy's Alaskan trip, it was clear that the voice was the voice of (George) Murphy but the hands were the hands of Dirksen. Lyndon Johnson had a great personal affection for Dirksen, but the President's careful handling of the Senate Minority Leader was also based partly on a full recognition of Dirksen's talent as a spoiler.

RUNS TO WIN

Ted Kennedy's difficulties with the Republicans, however, are trivial in comparison with those he must confront in his own party, and in the coalition that has given the party its muscle. He inherited from his brother Robert an army trained for guerrilla warfare against the Democratic leadership, an army specializing in demolition, in cutting up the reputation of the "old" politicians. Now suddenly Ted finds himself the leading candidate for general in the army his troops have been fighting.

Roche

No Kennedy runs for office just to get his name in lights or to engage in philosophical dialogue with the electorate — he runs to win. Yet Kennedy, who has demonstrated the same capacity for total commitment that his brothers displayed, must be aware that one cannot be elected President of the United States by a guerrilla army. It takes conventional forces, which the Kennedy minstreis among the intellectuals have been denouncing up and down the country as the "old politics." It may be good clean fun, for example, to kick Lyndon Johnson and John Connally around; it goes over like the Smothers Brothers in the New York City reform clubs. But in political terms the reform clubs couldn't deliver the milk, let alone New York State. Johnson and Connally are quite capable of winning Texas. Perhaps Ted should suggest some new tunes to his minstreis?

To take another aspect, what is Kennedy going to do about the AFL-CIO? As a guerrilla leader Senator Robert Kennedy developed close relations with the United Auto Workers, who were themselves engaged in an insurgency against the united labor movement. Today the Kennedy Democrats are involved in interlocking relationships with the breakaway Alliance for Labor Action, which was a useful base for guerrilla war. But if Kennedy is going to become the hope of the Democratic establishment, his ties with the Alliance are a liability. (The Alliance has other problems: composed of the strange amalgam of the Auto Workers and the Teamsters, it has all the long-run stability of a partnership between the Boy Scouts and Hell's Angels.)

In other words, if Kennedy wishes to head the army, he has to go where the soldiers are and make peace with one of the toughest, ablest politicians in the United States, George Meany of the AFL-CIO. There is no denying that Walter Reuther makes a grand anti-establishment speech, but Kennedy surely knows that the Auto Workers' President couldn't even get his man nominated for Mayor of Detroit.

WHAT ABOUT DALEY

Or finally, what can Kennedy do with Mayor Richard Daley? Daley, who plays his own hand with great cunning, has already announced that Kennedy is not Hubert Humphrey, was his first choice in 1968. Whether Daley sabotaged the national ticket in Chicago last year is an open question, but he is quite capable of it. Watching at close range in 1962, I was convinced Daley's purposeful inertia elected Dirksen to the Senate over Sid Yates.

How can Ted deal with the Grand Duke of Chicago? As a serious contender for the Presidency, and a realist who knows that Daley is anything but dead or crippled, Kennedy has to come to terms with the "old politics." And in the area of issues, he must confront the "law and order" groundswell with more than the usual set of clichés about cultural deprivation. (Persons who have been mugged are rarely interested in the psychiatric history of the mugger.) In short, Ted Kennedy must decide whether to follow the conciliatory track of his brother John, which led to the Presidency, or to lead a group of true believers into the wilderness.

Wisconsin Report

Finance Committee Is Seeking to Hold Tax Boosts to Sales Levy

By JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — It now appears that the objective of the Republican-controlled finance committee which is embroiled in controversy as it trims Gov. Knowles' budget bill is to prune it sufficiently to require about $200 million in additional taxes for the new biennium. That would contrast with something over $400 million which the governor's own appropriations recommendations involved.

If the committee can get the votes to make such a plan stick, which cannot now be assured, it will mean that the budget deficit can be covered with a simple extension of the sales tax, as Gov. Knowles also proposed, but without the income taxes and the array of difficult-to-pass excises that he also put in the most ambitious package of revenue measures ever submitted under the name of any Wisconsin executive.

CUTBACK * DECEPTIVE

To a considerable degree, the apparent cutting back of something like $200 million are in the fortuitous position of exploiting both the expenditure and the tax issues in the situation that prevails at the Capitol.

They are also fully prepared to do exactly that, growing more convinced with each passing month that they will have a fair to good chance to recover the governorship when the Republicans are required to field a new candidate two years hence. (The Obey election in the 7th District did more than any other recent event to persuade Democrats that they now have a fighting chance in 1970.)

The most pragmatic of them calculate that the resentment of the huge public service establishment and notably the massive educational system, will be so keen and so lasting that it will react to the benefit of the Democratic ticket in 1970 without much effort. But the Democratic politicians will make sure that these electoral forces remember, as they denounce what they will call the meat-axe treatment of educational budget proposals.

SALES TAX TARGET

At the same time, as these rivals of the Republican rulers of the statehouse see it, there will fall into their laps the opportunity to campaign against the universally favorite target of Democratic stumpers — the sales tax. The Republicans, supposed advocates of economy, will be pictured nevertheless as the party that saddled the first across-the-board sales tax on the people of Wisconsin who are already impatient about the weight of their present tax bills.

If such a posture is not entirely consistent, it may be observed that there is little evidence in the political life of the state or the country that literal consistency is necessarily required in the lives of politicians and parties.

If such calculations are correct, and such events come to pass, of course, the dreary cycle will begin all over again. A Democratic governor will wrestle with the hard choice between public service expansion pressures, on the one hand, and the wariness of the rank and file taxpayer, on the other.

The next governor of Wisconsin, it is important to remember, however, will have security a gainst immediate electoral reaction that his predecessors didn't have. He will be the first to be chosen for a four-year term.

Strictly Personal

Public's Reactions Worse Than Actions

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

What is distressing about the human race is not the way a small number of people act, but the way a larger number of people react. It is our reactions rather than our actions that condemn us to perpetual barbarism.

In Switzerland, not long ago, six members of a tiny "religious" sect were tried on charges of flogging to death a 17-year-old girl while trying to "exorcise the devil" from her body.

When the story of this fatal flagellation was published, according to Time magazine, the people of Zurich reacted with a "primitive moral fury" that was terrifying. Police cars taking the accused to and from the court needed extra protection from masses of lynchers.

The court was swamped with threatening letters, and proposals for the most frightful tortures were made by letter and phone. Newspapers "received hundreds of suggestions for punishment no less demonic than poor Bernadette's exorcism," including one writer who wanted to seal the defendants into a barrel full of spikes and set it afire.

And Switzerland, he it remembered, long ago abolished the death penalty for murder. This is one of Europe's most "civilized" nations.

The latest paranoias of the human race, and the raging aggression that lurks beneath the surface at all times, can be vividly seen in this reaction of the good, respectable, law-abiding and peace-loving Zurichers. What they wanted to do was far far worse than the crime they were "punishing."

This crime was obviously psychopathic, committed by religious fanatics in the grip of hysteria. People can scarcely get any sicker than this, and society should put them away in order to study them as we study carriers of all malignant and fatal diseases. This is a job for the trained clinician, not the executioner.

But the depravity of their crime released all the commensurate feelings of the populace — for all of use are potentially homicidal (if we don't know that, we have learned nothing from the Bible or from Freud); and under the guise of "retribution," the respectable members of society feel free to act out their own murderous fantasies.

It is not frightening that a few psychotics beat a girl to death. But it is frightening that the mass of people regard this violation, as an excuse to unleash their own repressed aggressions — and in so doing, become worse than the offenders they are chastising. No criminal has ever wounded society as severely as society wounds itself.

Prisoners Signed Up

GREELEY, Colo. (AP) — When Miss Sera Anderson opened the package containing her 1969 automobile license plates, one tag carried the usual two letters followed by four numerals. But the other carried the name, "Robert." The plates are made by prisoners at the Colorado Penitentiary.
